

THE EDITOR SAYS—

As we get it from reading article No. 2 in the Southeast Missourian, things could be a lot better in Cape Girardeau and still not make that newspaper mad.

A great acreage of cotton has been planted between Sikeston and Blytheville, Ark., and is looking pretty good. Few wheat fields ready for the harvest and, from the road, looks very good. If there were any corn fields they were not seen. Several good fields of alfalfa.

A trip from Sikeston to Jefferson City the past week-end showed a desolate condition insofar as farm prospects were to be considered. Few wheat fields and fewer corn patches. Some live stock and poultry. The only pleasant spot on the way was a Falstaff joint at Fredericktown.

We have been asked by a number of citizens what we thought of the chances for a favorable decision on the necessity and convenience of outcroppings against the Missouri Utilities Co., held before the Public Service Commission at Jefferson City last Friday, and we hesitate to make the decision for the Commission for fear it would not be ethical. However, we will say that the foolish talk of cutting down the poles of the Missouri Utilities Co. within the city limits should be squelched before it gets a start.

The extreme heat of Tuesday afternoon caused a couple of girls in a Sikeston office to dare one another to remove their stockings—and they did. The necessary coolness did not arrive and so they removed their undershirts and at 5:00 o'clock hadn't arrived, both would likely have been taken home in a barrel.

The Standard editor has no intention of tearing his undergarments over the shortage of money to maintain schools throughout the State. The little red school house has been abandoned and consolidated schools voted on taxpayers by laws providing busses and a driver to go all over the neighborhood to gather enough children to make a respectable showing in these consolidated buildings. The right for every child to have equal opportunity to get an education stands good, but contains a good deal of fumadiddles.

The first time since we have been paraphrasing editorially, we have set aside a paragraph already in type. This was a paragraph about the dismissing of Dan Gomez from Division 10, State Highway Department. This paragraph will be held in type to be printed later if conditions remain as is. To print same now might injure a cause that we are much interested in and not from fear. The only way for the Powers That Be, in State and Nation to find out how the Press feels about political conditions is for the Press to give them hell in a dignified way or otherwise.

Southeast Missouri editors will be in Sikeston next Friday, June 16, for their annual meeting. This meeting will be a quiet affair to what International Shoe Day and Drummers' Days were, but nevertheless, appropriate entertainment will be provided for them and business men and merchants will benefit greatly by attending the meeting.

Some days since, a call was sent forth by the Chamber of Commerce of Cape Girardeau to cities and towns along Highway 61 from West Memphis north, to meet at Blytheville, Ark., Tuesday, June 6, at 2 o'clock, to perfect an organization to try to divert traffic from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and other States over Highway 61, to Chicago and points north and east, and to cross the Mississippi River at Cape Girardeau.

At the appointed hour there appeared one representative from Cape Girardeau, four from Benton, four from Sikeston, one from Steele, and two from Blytheville. After drinking quite a bit of ice water, and visiting for a while, those present thought it best not to attempt an organization with so few from the north section and none from the south section, until those most interested could get co-operation from Memphis, who would, doubtless, have a lot to do with the routing of traffic to the Chicago Exposition and St. Louis.

The mileage from West Memphis to Chicago is approximately ten miles longer, but no ferry to delay and hard roads every mile.

Recently a Southeast Missouri newspaper confessed to having paid 33 cents income tax which put him 33 notches ahead of Morgan. This leads this newspaper to wonder if he had to borrow the 33 cents and how he was fixed on local taxes.

According to press reports France will default on her debt payment to the United States. Passports should be denied any citizen of the United States to foreign countries who default in the payments of their obligation to this country.

John P. Whidden of Jonesboro, Ark., was greeting friends in Sikeston Wednesday and paid The Standard a visit. He reports his splendid family enjoying good health.

1000 MEN WILL BE AT WORK IN CAMPS JULY

IMPROVING STATE PARKS IS PROPOSED

State Game and Fish Commissioner Wilbur C. M. Buford announced recently that by July 1 he expects to have 1000 men at work at the first five forestry camp sites selected for carrying out the provisions of the national emergency forestation program in Missouri.

These first projects will embrace beautification and improvement of the State park system. Buford said it is his intention to establish water systems in the parks, build roads, construct fire lines and fire towers and otherwise add to the comfort and safety of visitors during the summer vacation seasons.

The first five camps selected are in the Ozarks section of the State and are at or near Indian Trail State Park in Dent County, Deer Run State Park in Reynolds County, Meramec State Park in Franklin County, Big Spring State Park in Carter County and Roaring River State Park in Franklin County.

One of the definite projects already decided upon, which will be rushed to completion as soon as possible, is the construction of a concrete dam across a slough near the Big Spring to prevent a possible inundation of the spring by the Current River in times of high water.

Citizens Protest Dust on Sikeston Streets; Need Oil

Dust, dust, dust. Mrs. Sikeston Housewife is demanding action and immediate action on this one item. "No need to clean house," isn't the dust terrible? "W" just about smother the day time, but one can't keep the doors and windows open on account of the dust. These and similar comments have brought pressure to bear on business men who make up the Council.

Evidently the ladies win the first hand, possibly because Councilmen at home are just average husbands who have heard the anti-dust refrain sung in every key on the scale. At any rate, the Council at its regular meeting Monday night, authorized the purchase of a carload, approximately 10,000 gallons of oil.

But the average husbands in Council session laid down a bare, hard, cold rule.

"No pay, no oil!" "Heretofore, we have had just as many complaints about dust," commented one of the City Fathers. "And we went ahead and ordered oil, paid for having it applied to streets, and then heard complaints from irate property owners who didn't want the oil and absolutely refused to pay for it—after it was applied to streets!"

The books of the city clerk are full of red ink marking previous attempts to collect for road oiling after the dust was settled. This year, insists the Council, homeowners will pay only for the oil which costs 2.738 cents per gallon delivered. No charge will be made for applying the black stuff to the roadbed.

Those who desire to please their wives by settling the dust menace need only indicate City preference by calling on the City Clerk and then plunking down the necessary mazzie. The cost will be so much per front foot, to be determined some time this week by members of the street and alley committee.

ARKANSAS GOLF MATCH ARRANGED

A home and home series of golf matches with the Blytheville, Ark. club will get underway Sunday afternoon, 1 o'clock, when Sikeston entertains the visitors on the local links. Sikeston country club members will repay the visit July 30.

The two tournaments will have no effect upon the Sikeston rating in the annual Southeast Missouri Round Robin tourney play. At present the locals are runners-up having lost one match to Poplar Bluff while the latter are undisputed leaders in the five-club circuit.

While Sikeston is entertaining the Blytheville boys here, Charleston takes on Dexter Sunday afternoon on the Mississippi County links.

GRANDMOTHER OF MITZI MAYFAIR LIVES IN SIKESTON

Those who saw "The Way of all Fleshmen" at the Malone Theatre Sunday or Monday night probably marveled at the dancing ability of Mitzi Mayfair, co-star of the short reels of entertainment. How that young lady could dance.

Her grandmother, lives in Sikeston, according to reliable information reaching The Standard.

For several years checks have been arriving from Hollywood made payable to Mrs. Lovie Jones, 407 Northwest Street. They were cashed by a local bank. Mrs. Jones is at present recuperating from a serious operation in a St. Louis hospital and could not be reached for an interview. Duree Medley, manager of the Malone Theatre visited the Northwest street home Monday with the intention of issuing a special invitation to Grandmother Jones to visit the theatre that night to see her daughter on the screen.

Mitzi Mayfair's real name is Nina Pique.

SEMO FARMERS INVITED TO VISIT EXPERIMENT FARM

FIRST FIELD MEETING SET
FOR JUNE 12

A meeting which should be of interest to every farmer in Southeast Missouri will be held at the Experiment Farm, four miles north of Sikeston on Highway 61, Monday, June 12, at 1:30 o'clock.

At this meeting results of the various fertilizer and variety tests secured at this field will be discussed.

Professor H. H. Krusekopf, of the Missouri Department of Agriculture, Professor B. M. King in charge of the experimental cotton work in Missouri, and Dr. J. E. Trotter, Soils Specialist, will be in charge of the different phases of discussion. Those who can arrange to attend will find this a very profitable meeting, says County Agent Nancie, who would like for at least an automobile load of farmers from each community to visit this field on that day.

Afternoon Session
1:30—At the Marshall Hotel—Address, Wallace Crossley, Warrensburg, President Missouri Press Association.

Round Table, conducted by Harry Denman, Farmington Times.

Local Chorus to Take Part Friday
In Kennet Stunt

A Sikeston dance sextet which first won popular acclaim in a Lions Night Club appearance and since that time in a half dozen appearances, will entertain before a Kennet audience Friday night it was stated here today. The chorus girls coached by Miss Bradley of Poplar Bluff include Mary Emma Powell, Neva Mae Taylor, Mae Pepper, Genevieve Putnam, Marjorie Mow and Hazel Young.

The Steppers will be part of a program arranged after the fashion of a night club for the benefit of Kennet firemen, who introduced this form of entertainment in Southeast Missouri last year. Talchased. Poyner through the grounds, striking at him with his gun and that the gun flew from his hand and rolled on the ground.

Several Questioned
During the afternoon session of the inquest, six witnesses were examined. They testified to about the same facts that were brought out during the morning session.

Evidence developed at the inquest, tended to show that N. E. Frisby, proprietor of the resort, fired the shot that struck Malloy, and that he was shooting at Claude "Fat" Poyner, one of the combatants, as the latter fled from the scene of the fight. Witness after witness took the stand and swore that only one shot was fired, that Frisby fired it at Poyner and then chased. ## GOVERNOR PARK MAY VISIT CITY FRIDAY, JUNE 16

TO ADDRESS SEMO EDITORS
IN SESSION HERE

Unless something unforeseen happens to interfere Governor Guy B. Park "will be delighted to be with Southeast Missouri newspaper folks Friday, June 16 on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Southeast Missouri Press Association," according to a letter received from Mack Denman, corresponding secretary of the organization.

Governor Park intends to bring with him Walter Williams, President of the University of Missouri, and Frank Martin, Dean of the Missouri School of Journalism, and all three will appear on an unusually interesting program.

Another distinguished member of the newspaper fraternity, Dwight H. Brown, former Poplar Bluff newspaper editor, now Secretary of State, is scheduled to appear on the program.

Members of the Association voted recently to hold the meeting to a one-day session. It will begin at 10 o'clock at the Marshall Hotel, Rev. Leslie Garrison, pastor of the Baptist church will give the invocation, and H. C. Blanton, local attorney, the address of welcome. Paul Jones, of the Dunklin Democrat, will deliver the response. Following a reading of minutes of last session, members of the association will listen to a talk by Charles Keller, Executive Secretary of the Missouri Press Association, and at 11:30 o'clock, to a short talk by Dean Frank Martin.

Appointment of necessary committees will complete the morning session.

Luncheon will be served at the Del Rey Hotel.

The afternoon and evening session programs follow:

1:30—At the Marshall Hotel—Address, Wallace Crossley, Warrensburg, President Missouri Press Association.

Address—Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State.

CAR USED BY HOLDUP MEN FOUND TUESDAY

SERIES OF ROBBERIES NEAR CAPE CONFOUNDS POLICE

Cape Girardeau, June 6.—Another holdup today and the recovery of a stolen motor car marked the trail of two youthful bandits who staged two robberies in this immediate vicinity Sunday night and escaped in a 1931 model Ford coupe automobile they took from a young couple in one of the holdups. The route of the bandit pair became more plainly identified as the car was recovered early this morning at the side of Highway 25, near Blomeyer.

An Oran man, his wife and daughter were the victims early today when an automobile coupe forced their car to the side of the road and two youths, their faces masked with white handkerchiefs, leaped from the car, covered the trio with revolvers, took about $5 in money, and sped away.

On Road Near Delta

The third holdup was reported to have taken place at 12:30 a. m. today on Highway 25, near Delta, but only meager details were received here by officers.

W. S. Keller, 544 North Main street, while driving along Highway 25 near Blomeyer early today saw a Ford coupe automobile parked about 60 feet off the right-of-way in weeds. Noticing the door open and no one about, his suspicions were aroused. Investigating, he found the car had been abandoned and its license plates, smeared with mud, were those belonging to a Ford coupe taken by the bandits Sunday night on a side road south of the cement plant from Chester Nations, 305 South Spring Street, and Miss Ada Hannebrink, 387 Themos street, the latter being the owner.

The ignition key was in the lock and the spare tire had been removed. Keller drove to police headquarters and reported to Chief of Police J. E. Crafton, who notified Nations and sent Patrolman Paul McNeely with him to get the car. Nations identified the car as the one owned by Miss Hannebrink and taken in the Sunday night robbery. The vehicle was in good running order and apparently had not been subjected to hard use.—Cape Missourian.

The weather moderated considerably Thursday, dropping nearly four degrees below the extreme point of 102 reached Wednesday afternoon for a new high June record. At 1:30 o'clock Thursday the mercury stood a fraction above 98, said John LaFont, official weather recorder, who suggested that the column might reach 99 or a fraction over.

The weatherman for this district saw some promise of thunder-showers and scattered rains within the next twenty-four hours with a corresponding drop in temperatures. One hundred and two degree weather Wednesday afternoon gave Sikestonians their first taste of real summer temperature this season. The mercury in the official thermometer presided over by John LaFont, went slightly past the 102 mark, but counting the even figure satisfied most folks that it was hot weather.

Among other things the heat caused overtime for highway repair crews. Nine blowups had been reported in the vicinity of Sikeston between noon and four o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Four occurred south of the city on the Arkansas line, three west of Sikeston, one near Morley and one near Morehouse. The latter almost wrecked the automobile of an Illinois tourist who happened to drive over that particular section of the concrete that blew up. A dent in his right front fender gave evidence of the power expended in the process.

In each case, however, patrolmen, or State Highway Department workers marked the breaks with warning signs, or flags until crews could make temporary repairs.

The mercury has been climbing steadily for a week since June 1, according to Mr. LaFont's records. The chart showing high and low readings each day since June 1 follows:

	Hi	Low

Heat Causes Death
Heat prostration Tuesday caused the death of Theodore C. Bryant, 55, at his home in Red Star suburb of Cape Girardeau, near the Mississippi River. A neighbor, Charles Self, discovered the body and notified officers.

Cairo, Ill., June 7.—The hottest weather of this year was experienced here Monday afternoon when the mercury soared to an official temperature of 93 about 3 o'clock on the thermometer at the United States weather bureau. And there was a probability that a still higher temperature would be recorded here this afternoon, the mercury having climbed to 91 at noon and to 93 at 2 o'clock, with indications of going higher unless cooling winds or clouds intervened.

NO WONDER FLY CAN DODGE SWAT— HAS 8000 EYES

The common house fly, although it seems to have only two eyes, really has 8000 eyes. The seeing mechanism of the fly and other insects is very different from that of man and animals, and consists of thousands of independent light catching cells which bring the light to delicate frayed ends of the optic nerve, points out a bulletin. The eyes of an insect cannot be closed in sleep and cannot be moved from side to side. The average insect is very near-sighted and cannot see more than a yard or two away. There are more than 10,000 different kinds of insects in the world.

Not only do insects have poor eyes, as measured from the very efficient eye mechanism found in the human body, but they actually have no lungs. Instead of blood circulating through their bodies, carrying life-giving oxygen, tubes lead to all parts of the body through which the air passes. Many holes to let in the air are located in various parts of the skin, so that it is difficult to smother an insect unless most of these holes are closed.

COUNCIL DROPS MERCHANT TAX RATE MONDAY

LOWER RATE WILL CUT IN-COME $1000

The ancient bone of contention in Sikeston, that of adjusting merchants' license rates was again the principle subject up for settlement at the last regular meeting of the City Council Monday night.

But the changes finally agreed upon and incorporated in an ordinance effective for July 1 collection, lowers the rate on most lines of business, say the City Fathers. Last year merchants taxes amounted in total to nearly $5000. The exact figure, as given by records of P. H. Stevenson, City Clerk is $4946.60 for the year 1932. It is practically impossible to state accurately what the new schedule of rates will bring in, but estimates of the reduction ran from $1000 as a minimum to $1500 as a maximum.

150 Health Hazards

The problem of regulating or correcting health hazards caused by outdoor toilets and pig pens within the city limits received considerable discussion following the report of J. N. Sheppard, who for the past thirty days has been conducting a survey. Mr. Sheppard reported approximately 150 unsanitary units in the city.

The Council agreed to notify all property owners officially, and after a reasonable time has elapsed and the condition is not rectified, legal steps will be taken to have the hazards to health removed or corrected.

"But there is no such thing as a sanitary hog pen," commented the investigator, and brought down the house.

Stallcup Resigns
The resignation of L. M. Stallcup as city treasurer was accepted at the Monday night meeting. His successor has not been appointed.

The retiring finance officer requested the city to stand one-half the loss resulting from the sale of bonds held in escrow by the city to secure funds on deposit. The portion of the city under this arrangement would be $136.87, and a similar amount would be charged as loss by the Sikeston Trust Co. depository of city funds. The matter was referred to the finance committee for settlement.

Too Much Traffic

Twenty-one residents on South Kingshighway petitioned the Council to regulate the flow of heavy traffic on that boulevard, and received an ordinance limiting the net weight carried by trucks to 5000 pounds.

The all-night rumble of heavy freighters disturbs sleepers along this street which is optional Highway 61 through Sikeston from south to north.

Tax levies will remain unchanged for another year at least, states another ordinance placing a tax of 50 cents for general revenue and 60 cents for sinking fund on each $100 valuation within the city limits. The poll tax on able bodied male citizens between the ages 21 to 50 also remains the same, $2.00 per year. The rates have been in effect since 1926.

Regular reports, allowing of bills and their discussion consumed the rest of the time of the city lawmakers.

Now we went off the gold; that is, you had a government bond and it said they would pay you in gold; now they won't. Well, you can alibi the situation, but that is repudiation. But they claim it was necessary, and we needed the money. Now if they can do that in an emergency, why can't they pass another one to do away with the tax clause on all tax exempt bonds? There would be more justice in that, for everybody bought 'em just to evade the tax. In other words, we knew we were buying a stolen car when we bought it, but that's why we bought it. When you repudiate all tax exempt bonds you only beat 'em out three or four per cent, but when you repudiate the gold, it will take years to find out what you beat him out of.—Will Rogers.

As I See It

—By—
Art L. Wallhausen

We have had occasion to comment before on Hitler's edict which resulted in the destruction of thousands of books of literature, social civics, finance and theory of government.

The world watched patiently while the German despot ruled his khaki-clad loyalists with thinly veiled Communistic regulations, but when he endeavored to stop the free interchange of ideas by control of the press, and finally acted the supreme nit wit by ordering the burning of books which fail to conform to his idea of government—Hitler lost heavily in good will. We express this thought knowing that it will probably cause him no end of sleepless nights.

And speaking of sleepless nights reminds us that very few of us do anything about comfort in hot weather.

Homes are built to withstand cold rather well. We have heating plants to supply the lacking warmth in winter, but when summer arrives nothing is done in the way of artificial cooling.

Great strides have been made in that direction, but very, very little within the buying range of Mr. and Mrs. Average Homeowner.

The day is just around the corner when home building as we know it, will be practically a thing of the past. General Houses, Inc., is a corporation containing the best minds in a dozen corporations of our day and time.

General Houses has made a number of test homes of steel and other similar materials. They are not yet on the market. When they will be placed for sale generally 4 to 6-room homes will be sold for $1200 to $1800.

Then a building program for a couple will sound something like this. Buy lot on Monday. Order home XY456 complete on Tuesday. It will be delivered, knocked down the following day, and erected within a week by a force of three or four experts. Mr. and Mrs. New Homeowner move in the following Monday and pay for their home to General Houses, Inc., by the month just as they pay for the automobile, their radio or a new vacuum cleaner.

Lumber dealers, painters and carpenters will not like the idea at first, but that is coming.

Some of our friends have called to inquire about our sanity, but thus far our predictions have been based entirely upon facts as we dig them up. Want more?

Shameful Prison Over-Crowding

Our colonial forefathers, herding the insane and criminals together in common jails or confining them in caves and dungeons, showed as much humanity, according to their light, as Missourians with their latest report of 4755 inmates in the penitentiary at Jefferson City. We know better. Our colonial fathers did not. Missouri's penitentiary is built to care properly for barely 2300. The 4755 make the place a hell-hole. It means crowded cells, bad air, insanitary and immoral contacts, perpetuation and inevitable increase of crime and disease.

What prisoner can emerge from such surroundings with anything but a grudge against the society that sent him there? Pardonings and paroles of hardened offenders are made necessary before they are deserved, to make room for newcomers. Punishment and expiation under such circumstances become disgrace and torture for any inmate with a spark of decency left. Yet this goes on year after year. Feeble gestures are made by State executives to remedy it, and the legislature permits the evil to grow steadily worse. The State needs not a larger prison, but an additional prison somewhere else. No penal institution with 4755 inmates can be run efficiently or serve its purpose. Are there not enough Missourians, humane minded and with a conception of what this situation means to public welfare, to force State government to act?—St. Louis Star-Times.

Chasing Food Bargains Is Sport If You Are Living On 50c. A Day

Professor Rose Gives Suggestions For Tasty Healthful Economy Meals

This is the last of six articles showing how you can live healthfully on 50 cents a day.

By Dr. Mary S. Rose
Professor of Nutrition, Columbia University

You will want to know how anyone can live on 50 cents a day and not get bored with the small selection of foods available.

I have tried, in devising the menus, to give you the fundamentals of a healthful, economical diet. This is an emergency diet, and naturally does not contain foods selected just for their variety or flavor. Nevertheless, it is possible to get a little variety into it. Chasing food bargains may become as exciting as finishing a jigsaw puzzle.

Cocoa Milk Shakes

Here are some suggestions: Buy a small can of cocoa syrup at a grocery store, and use it to flavor your morning or evening milk.

Make a tasty cold soup by mixing a can of tomato puree and a can of evaporated milk. This can be taken either cold or warm, and is excellent food. You can also enrich your milk by adding a can of evaporated milk to a quart of fresh milk. Nothing you can buy will give you so much health protection for the money spent.

Buy a small loaf of sliced whole wheat bread and a jar of peanut butter. Remember that whole wheat bread does not keep well unless kept enclosed in its wax wrapper. Make peanut butter sandwiches to eat with your milk. Peanut butter is rich, excellent food, inexpensive, and will keep. As far as nutrition is concerned, milk, whole wheat bread, and tomato puree form a perfect combination.

Crackers and Milk

If you like crackers with your milk, buy graham or whole wheat or rye crackers. They contain more food elements than white crackers for the same expenditure. You can make a fine crackers-and-milk dish, giving it additional flavor and food value, by slicing a banana into it and adding a spoonful of sugar. All the equipment you need for this is a bowl, spoon, and knife, and only one dish to wash.

Very the meals you take in your room by eating potato chips with your bread and milk, now and then.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR

MRS. ALICE CLARK HELD AT MOREHOUSE WED.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the Morehouse Methodist church for Mrs. Alice Clark, 54, formerly of Morehouse, Texas, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Crumpecker, in Houston, Monday, June 5, of heart trouble. Rev. M. A. Massey of Hornersville, her former pastor, assisted by Rev. Simeon Shaw, pastor of the Morehouse Methodist church, officiated, with burial in the Sikeston City Cemetery, the Rebekah Lodge in charge.

Mrs. Clark was born in Stoddard County, and was for many years a resident of Morehouse until recently when she went to make her home with her daughter in Houston. She was preceded in death ten years ago by her husband, Jos. E. Clark. She was a member of the Morehouse Methodist church and of the Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Clark had been failing in health for the past six months, but had been gradually slipping away for two months previous to her death. The body arrived in Morehouse Wednesday morning accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crumpecker and a niece, Mrs. Joe McCabe, and was taken to the home of Mrs. A. C. Whitener, previous to the funeral services.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Clark is survived by two grandchildren, Bonnie Joe and Anna Lee Crumpecker; and four brothers, Chas. and Joe Boswell of Farmington, John Boswell of Doe Run and Will of Los Angeles, Calif., and several other relatives.

GIRARDEAU YOUTH IS PAROLED IN BURGLARY OF MOREHOUSE CAFE

New Madrid, June 6.—Edward McBee, 20 years old, of Cape Girardeau, who last January drove an automobile occupied by Frank Casey and another man during the burglary of a Morehouse Cafe, was given a 2-year sentence and a parole in Circuit Court, Monday.

McBee signed a confession shortly after his arrest in which he told of driving the automobile. He was charged with being an accessory to the fact.

The burglary happened a few hours before Cape Girardeau police raided a Water Street flat in that city, killing Thomas R. Crawford and John Huff. McBee was not in the flat at the time, his confession states.

London's growth is so rapid that it has been estimated there are a half million people living on its borders for whom there are no church accommodations.

They can be purchased in five of ten-cent packages. If you can find a half a pound of figs or dates for ten cents they will also help to improve two meals. They will keep, and you must resist the temptation to eat them all at one meal.

"Health Insurance" First

You will be able to find many other ways to add variety to these emergency meals, but you must keep in mind the necessity of using the foods which promote and protect health. Remember, your "health insurance" foods first—milk, fruits, vegetables and cod liver oil. These are the foods which make the 50 cent diet—and any other diet, for that matter—safe and healthful. Provide at least a quart of milk a day, fruit, tomatoes, salads of greens if you can afford them, and cod liver oil, and you can devote the remainder of your food money to energy foods with the knowledge that your health will be unimpaired.

Drum and Bugle Award to E. St. Louis Legion

Cairo, Ill., June 5.—About 15,000 Legionnaires and their guests from Illinois, Arkansas, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee were journeying homeward today after the close of the annual convention of the fifth division of the American Legion here. The East St. Louis American Legion drum and bugle corps was awarded first prize in the annual competition with a dozen other corps.

Edward A. Hayes, Decatur, a candidate for the national command of the Legion, was the principal speaker at yesterday's session in this city's new $300,000 armory.

CAPT. SHORES STARTS CAMP DUTIES MONDAY

Caruthersville, June 5.—Capt. Rexford Shores, stationed here for some years as military instructor of the 140th Regiment, Missouri National Guard, will leave Monday for Camp Pike, Ark., following instructions to report there. He has been assigned to duty with the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Captain Shores recently assisted in the preliminary examination of recruits from several counties of Southeast Missouri, being stationed at Cape Girardeau during that time, where a concentration point was formed.

STATE BEGINS HEARINGS ON RAIL AND TRUCK RATES

Jefferson City, June 5.—A series of hearings, called by the State Public Service Commission in the attempt to "adjust and harmonize the freight rate structures of truck and railroads", started today. About 150 truck operators and railroads' representatives appeared.

Taking note of the railroads' complaints against charges made for trucking intrastate freight shipments, the commission had made all truck operators defend-investigate the reasonableness and lawfulness of all local and joint motor carrier and steam railroad rates, according to J. C. Collett, chairman.

Two Wheel Brakes

If buying a new car today you expect it to have all features plus four wheel brakes which means only one thing—SAFETY. Then why purchase an electric refrigerator that uses refrigerants that sometimes get up to pile driver proportions, also that use belts, pulleys which cause loss of power.

There is only one REAL MODERN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR, the NE WSUPERSAFE GRUNOW using CARRENE, the refrigerant that is non-explosive, non-inflammable and operates at a vacuum rather than pressure. Our firm is proud to sell the first real advancement in electric refrigeration in 10 years. GRUNOW has all the desirable features—plus the exclusive feature of—SAFETY.

CHAPTER XXIV

"I'm boring you . . ." said Blondie, glancing at her watch.

"No—you could never bore me . . . situations bore me, though. I'm getting to distrust everyone and everything—I think it must be age . . ."

"You look very well!"

"So do you . . . It's not fair for one person to have so much charm—what does it feel like to be a great success?"

"Success!"

"Miss McClune wears this—she smokes that . . . I'm always reading about you."

"You're laughing at me, really!"

"You wouldn't have me cry over you, would you?"

"You couldn't cry if you tried—over anyone!"

"You mean I'm not sincere? . . . I was sincere with you . . ." Larry paused for an answer, but Blondie was silent. . . . and you know it . . ."

"He added."

"And now?"

"Well—now is another day, isn't it?"

"Yes, funny, isn't it?"

"Very funny—hat's why I laugh." And the room echoed with his mocking laughter.

"She'll be a lucky woman—who really gets you seriously."

"The lady who did get me seri-

you together again. You know you care for Larry, Lurline, and I'm sure Larry cares for you. . ."

Larry rose and started to walk away. But Lurline was affected by what Blondie had said.

"I don't know what I ever did to Larry to make him change," Lurline said simply.

What was it, Larry?" asked Blondie.

"What would you like me to say?" Larry retorted.

"I'd like you to say that you'll make up with Lurline." "Society's understood each other perfectly."

"Until you walked out, we did!" said Lurline.

"Well that's it," Blondie started again, but Larry cut her short.

"We call make mistakes—I thought it was fun when it at—ted, but I began to find out how sordid and empty it was sort of thing is."

"Thank you very much," said Lurline, grandly, more hurt than she care to admit.

"I'm not trying to be unkind. . . but you can't realize it's just as bad for the man as the woman! She's not the only one who loses her self-respect. . . he does, too, and there was no real love in it—"

"How do you know, Larry?" said Lurline, biting her lip.

"You never really loved me," Larry challenged. Blondie watched as Lurline turned away from his gaze.

"That's true, Larry. . . " Lurline admitted, facing him again.

"Did I ever say I loved you?"

"No. You are honest—I'll say that."

"And I've always been honest—I

"You may be a bum in a lot of ways, but I'm honest. . ."

Suddenly he turned to Blondie, and his voice shook with feeling: "And I'm honest with you—when I tell you—" Larry stopped. "What does it matter now?—It's too late!" he added, dejectedly.

"You'll have to marry and settle down some day!" Blondie exclaimed quickly.

"To whom?" asked Lurline, sharply.

"That's a long story—if I treated you badly I'm sorry—very sorry. . . and thanks to you, Blondie, I've sweet thought. I've always known you were fine—fine. . . Goodbye, kids!"

"Good luck, mister. . ." Blondie said, her voice breaking under the strain.

"Mister yourself!" came back Larry, laughingly.

Lurline followed him to the door. It seemed as though the weight of the world was resting on her shoulders, and a strange, insistent pain was tugging at her heart.

With his hand on the door Larry turned, and said:

"Everyone, sometime in his life, has to turn around and do the right thing. I want to be married and have a home. . . and children. . . The big gay life isn't so much. . . really! It's pretty empty at times. . . Well, so long. . . and he was gone.

Blondie stared blankly at the door for a minute, then threw back her shoulders and ran into the hall, and entered the drawing room.

Lurline was pouring champagne when Blondie walked over to her.

"What's that some?" asked Lurline, quietly.

"Sure!"

Silently they raised their glasses to each other and drank.

"Heigh!" called Lurline, putting down her glass.

"Got a mirror?" asked Lurline.

"My tears have gone black!"

"In here. . ." and Blondie led her into a room that a princess would envy.

Week of High Temperatures an Aid to All Crops

A week of high temperatures, sunshine and no rain has improved the general crop situation in Missouri, Roscoe Nunn, head of the St. Louis Weather Bureau said today in the weekly weather and crop bulletin.

The weather made possible uninterrupted field work and caused rapid germination and growth so that crop conditions and farm work were normal or better in three-fourths of the State. Rain, however, would be beneficial within the next few days, Nunn said.

The planting of considerable corn acreage, delayed by previous heavy rainfall, was accomplished. Earlier corn shows good stands and that planted at the normal time is mostly in excellent condition. Second plantings are reported very good, and in the northwest quarter of the State replantings were less than usual.

Wheat made good to excellent progress. It is mostly headed and is reported filling well. In the southwestern counties there are signs of ripening. Oats made good progress and heading is general. First cuttings of alfalfa were completed with good to excellent yields.

Planting of cotton was finished this week and progress of that planted earlier, was good.

Minor crops, such as potatoes and garden produce are doing well. Tobacco is being transplanted—finished in some localities—in Platte, Jackson, Clay and Chariton Counties. Cherries and apples are making progress. Chinch bugs are appearing in some corn fields and locusts are numerous.

FRISCO USES NEW AIR COOLED CARS

Effective the first of this month the Frisco Railroad placed in use three new lounge cars, the first air-cooled carriers to be put in service. The Texas Special crack trains between St. Louis, Dallas, Ft. Worth and San Antonio, Texas, are so equipped, says a recent bulletin.

The cooling device placed in each car is insulated with cork, and the total weight of ice and air conditioning equipment is about 6500 pounds. The ice box under the car holds 2400 pounds of ice and maintains water temperature of 39 to 40 degrees, which is pumped to spray chambers inside of the car. The air is washed and cooled and then passes on to the fan, and then into the car. It is believed that the type of air cooling equipment in this car is the cheapest, lightest in weight and most economical of power units, and takes less room inside of the car than any air cooled car brought out to date. The ice will last approximately fourteen hours without reicing.

President Roosevelt's Daughter Popularizes New Eating Custom

Mrs. Dill entertaining friends at a "salad first" luncheon.

WASHINGTON—By serving her salads as an appetizer at the beginning of the meal instead of following the meat course, Mrs. Curtis B. Dill, energetic daughter of President Roosevelt, with true Rooseveltian vigor has taken a leading part in popularizing this long-established California custom in the East.

During the past year the West Coast custom of serving salads at the beginning of the meal has been spreading rapidly Eastward and already has become the vogue in many sections of the South and Middle West. Most of the larger hotels have adopted the plan.

Fruit and vegetable salads have long been recognized by dietitians and doctors as necessary in a balanced diet. In communities where salads are served first, statistics show they usually are eaten. When served in the old fashioned manner with or following the meat course, they often are left untouched, the result being that the diner, already satisfied, misses important vitamins which he should have to balance his meal.

After serving her salads first, Mrs. Dill solved the problem of getting her children to eat their daily portions of vegetables without protest. At the beginning of the meal, when they are hungry, she found her children not only ate, but loved their vegetables in salad form.

The custom of serving salads first, Mrs. Dill said, appeals most favorably to adults, and especially to men, and because of the great popularity of the custom she has made it a frequent feature of her meals.

A little girl in Porter had been spanked, put into a dark closet, sent to bed hungry, "shamed" and about all the more or less humane forms of punishment applied to try to break her swearing. Finally her mother packed the girl's clothing in a big suit case and put the girl and it out on the porch, telling her she could not live in the house if she would not quit swearing. Not long after that the preacher came up and asked the child if her mother was at home. Promptly the little girl replied: "Damned if I don't live here any more!"—Porter News.

Miss Beulah Howe of this city and George Finney of Evansville, Ind., spent Tuesday evening with Miss Lena Jackson at Charleston.

STANDARD OIL WINS 12 TO 2 FROM SHOE MEN

VICTORS HAVE WON 5 LOST 1 IN SERIES

The Isovix boys of Manager Pete McCoy went wild Tuesday in the first munny baseball game of the week, sending Cy Dowdy's shoe-makers back to their last with the small end of a dozen to two score, incidentally keeping their top-of-the-league standing intact with five wins and one loss.

The Shoe Makers still hold precariously to second place, breaking even in wins and losses with three each. With only one game remaining in the second round of the first half, there is a chance for the Midwest Aces to go into a tie for second honors. The boys piloted by Ted Kirby have lost three and won two games, and Thursday are scheduled to meet Potash.

Night Mare First

increase their win percentage to three and three, while the Truckers drop one more notch below the surface.

The Truckers, however, reflect confidence of manager Duke Weidemann, who has the Thursday game on ice. A complete shakeup has been in progress for the past week, and the Duke plans on placing a rejuvenated nine on the diamond. He will have the redoubtable Smoky Sutton, in person, behind the plate. Young Mow will hold down an outfield position, and Bush will do the twirling.

In event the freight heavers take the honors Thursday, they go into a tie with the Aces for third honors.

The first inning in the Tuesday Standard Oil-International Shoe contest roved to be a nightmare of runs, hits, errors and passes which were promptly converted into five tallies by the McCoy crowd.

The Oilers batted completely around in the first frame with Scene at the dedication of Enchanted Island, the children's fairland at Chicago's World's Fair. The Island, which consists of five acres, was opened two weeks in advance of the official opening.

Here the parents may check their children with capable attendants while they visit other sections of A Century of Progress and visit the hundreds of interesting exhibits.

Lancaster starting the celebration with a bingle, and a score and ending it with a long drive out to Dowdy in centerfield for the final put-out.

Kirby does Fade Out
Kindred followed Jack with a single, but was caught in a double play when Sells grounded down to Smith at second. With two down and one on, Letty Weidemann, hurler for the Shoe Makers, passed Miller purposely to get to Dick Swaim, but Barber Dick crossed up the works by lining out a double that cleared the bases and left him on second. Smith bobbled Mast's drive to second, Roberts walked, and Vessells' got on by an error on Johnson. Williams cleaned the bases with another double, and Lancaster finally ended the comedy errors with his drive out to Dowdy.

Red Kirby worked behind Weidemann in the first two frames, but retired in favor of Sidwell, who umpired the rest of the game.

Manager Dowdy receives credit for both runs scored by the Internationals. He walked in the fourth and scored when Hicks attempted to stretch a double and was thrown out at second. An error in the sixth frame also went for a tally and promised to bring a rally to even up the score. Hicks grounded to Miller who tossed Johnson out at second, and Smith who might have saved the day with a double grounded out. Law previously had popped out to Roberts at second.

The score sheet gave the Oilers 13 hits, 12 runs and five errors, the Internationals three hits, two runs and three errors.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear son, Ray Montgomery, who passed away one year ago, June 8th, 1932.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled.
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Sadly missed by Mother,
Fathers, Sisters and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mrs. Eva Culbertson, who was laid to rest last Thursday, June 1:
God has called from this world a mother, grandmother and friend. She was a true christian, her life a light to the world, a great help and comfort to the sick, was so kind and patient to children and a great lover of flowers.
From this world a friend has gone,
Has gone far, far away.
But we hope to meet her
In Heaven some sweet day.
We will miss her face
We will miss her hands
When light has touched seem born of love,
Only in dream can we recall
The saintly form that dwells above,
And yet we know her tender heart
Yearned to assuage the tears we weep.
And we know that in the darkest night
The faithful Angels will guard her sleep.
A Friend,
MRS. JESSE BOHANNON

IN MEMORIAM

East Prairie Boy
Fatally Hurt In Fall From Truck

Cairo, Illinois, June 5.—John Rogers, 17, of East Prairie, Mo., died at St. Mary's Hospital this morning from injuries received when he fell from a truck near his home Sunday morning. The truck on which he was riding was pulling a trailer. The wheels of the trailer ran over Rogers, crushing him.

The truck was driven by Quarley Johnson. Rogers and others had asked Johnson to let them ride out to their homes in the country as he was going their way. Sitting with Johnson on a box in the back of the truck was another man, who also came near falling in front of the trailer as the truck crossed a floodway embankment over which the highway ran.

Goroner C. E. Dille held an inquest here today. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, and specified that Rogers was riding at his own request.

Rogers was the son of Mrs. Clara King of East Prairie. His body was returned to East Prairie today. Interment will be made at New Madrid.

BLUFF GOLFERS
DEFEAT DEXTER

The Poplar Bluff golf team continued its march toward district honors in the round robin tournament by defeating Dexter Sunday and maintaining a perfect average of four victories and no defeats.

John Phillips and E. C. Graham were low scorers for Poplar Bluff, each with a 79. Dr. Frank LaRue and Fred Smith were low for Dexter with 77 each.

The next scheduled match with Sikeston the course there is for June 25. Sikeston has won three and lost one tourney.

The score Sunday was Poplar Bluff 30, Dexter 10.

stop, brought his average up to 461 with a triple and single out of four times at bat.

Charleston scored in the first inning, Cokenour walking and scoring on Jim Miller's lusty single to right after stealing second. In the third, a single, a triple, a single, a triple and another single accounted for three runs. Two singles and an error produced another run in the fourth, and an error and three straight singles brought in two more tallies in the fifth. In the seventh, a single, walk and an error produced another run. In the eighth, a man hit by pitched ball, two stolen bases and a single produced the final run. In the ninth, Sikeston put across a run, an error, two stolen bases and a single doing the work.

Totals—Sikeston, 1 run, 6 hits, 6 errors; Charleston, 9 runs, 13 hits and 3 errors.

LOVE NOTES OF NOTED PERSONS EXHIBITED

New York, June 5.—An exhibition opened today by the Rosenbach company contains love letters of Benjamin Franklin, Nathan Hale, Lord Nelson and many others.

Lord Nelson wrote to his "Dearest Emma", stating he would "rejoice, my Emma, to have you in my arms when I need not envy a King".

Thomas Jefferson is shown in one letter to have ideas of his own on marriage. To his friend, William Fleming, he wrote: "You say you are determined to be married as soon as possible, and advise me to do the same. No thank ye!"

Benjamin Franklin, sometimes called "the first civilized American", wrote to Mme. Brillon:

"I had not the happiness, my dear friend, to see you on Wednesday evening, because my horses were at Paris with the young man, and I have neither feet nor wings. If I had wings, I think I should sometimes scratch on the window of your bedchamber. It is very mischievous of nature to deny us the advantages that she wastes so profusely on all the little good-for-nothing birds and flies."

One of the most torrid of the love letters on exhibition is that of Constance Lloyd to Oscar Wilde:

"My darling love—you take all my strength away, I have no power to do anything but just love you when you are with me. Every moment you are with me I worship you more, my whole life is yours. . . . Do you believe that I love you more passionately with all the strength of my heart and mind . . . and when I have you for my husband I will hold you fast with chains of love and devotion so that you shall never leave me, or love anyone as long as I can love and comfort."

Most fascinating of all is a letter of Edgar Allen Poe to a friend, a letter reciting a love deep, moving and tragic. The letter tells of the recurring illnesses of "a wife whom I loved as no man ever loved before."

With each recurring attack of her illness he "felt all the agonies of her death and at each accession of the disorder I loved her more dearly and clung to her life with more desperate pertinacity. . . . I became insane, with long intervals of horrible sanity. During these fits of absolute unconsciousness I drank, God only knows how often or how much. As a matter of fact, my enemies referred the

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM MORLEY

(By Mrs. C. A. Stallings)

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Modglin of Memphis, Tenn., returned to their home Saturday, after a three-day visit with the latter's brother, U. G. Ragains and family.

Twyman Grant of Cape Girardeau, a former teacher here, visited Ward Hunter Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leslie left Friday for Current River near Doniphan for a week-end camping trip.

Helen Vera Dudley of Sikeston is visiting Lila Ruth Ragains.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whittell and daughter, Miss Lillian, of Union City, Tenn., and Miss Nadine Moore Charleston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lattie Leslie, Thursday.

Mr. Waldmate of Piedmont visited Harry Tomlinson, Saturday.

Ralph Vaughn and Oscar Dodson went to Eleven Point Wednesday for a few days fishing, returning Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Hight of Morehouse and her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Ogden of Denver, Colo., visited Mrs. W. P. Clayton, the last of the week leaving Saturday for Kansas City for an extended visit.

Carl Leslie and Miss Ruth Lowery of St. Louis were married Saturday, June 3, at the home of Rev. J. W. Stone, pastor of the Compton Heights church, St. Louis. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leslie of this place and was reared here, moving to St. Louis in 1928 soon after graduating from high school. He is employed by the Wm. R. Warner Wholesale Drug Co., and has a home prepared for housekeeping. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie are expected in Morley Thursday for a visit with relatives.

Elmer Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Phillips, was born March 5, 1902, at Marston and departed his life very suddenly of heart trouble at his home in Morley, June 3, 1933, age 31 years, 2 months and 28 days. At the age of 15 he professed faith in Christ and was united with the Evergreen Baptist church at Marston. He continued strong in his faith until his death. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Cole June 2, 1915. To this union 8 children were born, one of which preceded his father in death. He leaves his wife, Elizabeth; and children, Christine, Howell, Ruth, Allene, Colleen, Richard and Patsy May; one sister, Mrs. Cora Pikey, of Marston; three brothers, Richard of Atwell, Ark.; Oliver of Gulfport, Miss., and Lee of Marston, and a host of other relatives and friends. The funeral was held at the Baptist church Sunday at 2:30 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. J. W. Jeffries in charge and burial in the Morley cemetery.

WORK OF RESTORING MCKENDREE CHAPEL AT JACKSON BEGINS

Judge Kelly, president of the association formed last year to restore and preserve old McKendree Chapel, located three miles east of Jackson and the oldest Protestant church west of the Mississippi still existing, informed us yesterday that the association at a meeting the previous evening had decided to go ahead with the work, and he instructed the architect to proceed. Not quite all the subscriptions have yet been paid in, but enough money is on hand to begin work, and he promoters feel sure that the subscribers will make good their pledge. The outstanding sum is not very large.

The building, erected out of large hewn poplar logs, is in a fair state of preservation, but the roof and windows are in such a shape that in a short time the old chapel would be a hopeless wreck. Just from a historical standpoint this old building should be preserved, and it would be an attractive spot for posterity, and with its fine site—Cape County Post.

A Hero of Pompeii

The London Daily Herald of February 21, this year, publishes the following touching story which we take from the Animals' Friend:

A while ago some explorers were digging out a part of Pompeii, that city which, many centuries ago, was suddenly destroyed by an eruption of Vesuvius.

Outside a house they found the body of a small boy looking almost as if he had fallen asleep. The little fellow had been overtaken by the clouds of poison gas and torments of red-hot ashes from the volcano.

By the side of the boy was a big dog with its teeth caught in its master's cloak. It looked as though the dog had made a great effort to save the boy. Around the dog's neck was a big silver collar. The metal was all tarnished, but when cleaned it was seen to have this inscription in Latin: "This dog has thrice saved the life of his little master. Once from fire, once from water, and once from thieves."

Even at this last hour, when destruction poured down from the sky, it was plain that the faithful animal had tried to save his little master a fourth time.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

NEW PATROL CHIEF IS WAR VETERAN

By J. C. Johnsen

State Editor, Journal Post

Kansas City—Missouri's State Highway Patrol will "carry on" as it has in the past, under the guidance of a new leader whose youth and army experience fits him well to succeed the able Col. Lewis Ellis as superintendent.

The new chief is Marvin Casteel, 39 years old, a graduate of the University of Missouri, former accounting engineer for the St. Joseph and Grand Island railroad, and for twelve years chief engineer for the St. Joseph school district. Casteel, who went to France with the American Expeditionary forces as a second lieutenant, returned to his home State a captain. He won promotion while in France. He is now a major in the reserve corps.

To Be No Shakeup

In assuming charge Superintendent Casteel asserted there will be no change or shakeup in the department.

"We will carry on," he declared in passing favorable comment on the administration of the highway patrol under Colonel Lewis. "The department is well organized. The members of the patrol got their training at the St. Louis police school, have gained in practical experience under Colonel Ellis, and I see no need to disrupt the organization as it now stands and I certainly do not intend to."

Superintendent Casteel's appointment was announced May 12 by Governor Guy B. Park. The salary of the superintendent was reduced by the last session of the Legislature from $5800 a year to $4300. Under the law the salary reduction will be effective only for the next two years, but the next session will have power to continue the reduction or lower it still more as it finds necessary. The reduction was made by appropriation and not by statute.

The office of superintendent of the patrol is answerable to the governor and the head of the department serves at the governor's pleasure.

A Native of St. Joseph

Superintendent Casteel is a native of St. Joseph, Mo. After his graduation from the State university he joined the St. Joseph and Grand Island railroad and in 1917 he entered the service as a second lieutenant.

He was an engineering officer for the second corps air school in France. He served 17 months overseas. After the armistice he became a superintendent of road construction, until his appointment in 1920 as chief engineer for the St. Joseph school board.

Superintendent Casteel has always taken an active part in veterans' affairs. He is a former commander of the Jack Schneider post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; MacDonald post, American Legion and MacDonald-Dugger-Duncan post, American Legion. He was State Commander of the American Legion in 1928. He is a past exalted ruler of the Elks, and is a Mason.

Washington Comment

If Congress casts a favorable eye on the plans of the President, government expenses will be cut about a billion dollars. Having cut them, there remains the equally serious problem of keeping them down. Assuming that they are not permitted to rise again, there are a good many dead horses to pay for, as well as several new and live ones to be taken care of. Like it or not, there is but one mine that can be depended upon to yield unfailing pay-dirt, and that mine is taxation. The excise taxes, scheduled for the scaffold on the first of July, are likely to be given a reprieve of a year. Others will be created or increased. Heavier tax paying seems distinctly probable. The immediate result will be the production of ready cash in the Treasury. If the list of tax-free securities is suspended, the market for government bonds will be improved, but what will happen to the securities that heretofore have been regarded as gilt-edged? The net result, in the more or less distant future, may prove to be highly satisfactory, but no one should delude himself into thinking that there are no high mountain ranges yet to be crossed. It will be necessary to carry on for some time to come.

The Navy Department has issued orders that sailors who swear are to be punished. It will be recalled that Farragut made harsh remarks about the torpedoes. Washington broke loose at Monmouth. Horace Greeley could rip it off on occasion. A newspaper says that a former Vice-President uses only the "conventional" hell and dam. Discrimination against the boys in the forecastle is evident, yet there remains the ancient prerogative of saying important things in a low breath.

The door nail, although popularly regarded as dead, has been kept alive for several centuries by a proverb of common speech. Even as a by-word, the door-nail is doomed to go. The current phrase is "deader than a war debt."

The representative of the United States at Geneva assures, the conference of the support of his country in efforts to put down future wars, a statement which has a good and wholesome sound. The only thing that causes apprehension is the fact that the delegates of the other nations greeted the announcement with cheers. Woe unto you when all men shall speak well of you.

Relaxing revision of anti-trust laws is suggested now and then, as a means for bolstering up business. There was a time when the bad men of history were Benedict Arnold and Mr. Rockefeller. The future may conclude that John D. should have a statue in the Hall of Fame.

An Italian liner breaks a record, on a voyage of five days and twenty-two hours from Spain to New York. No doubt the affairs of the passengers were so urgent that a quick run was necessary. Columbus took about ten weeks for the trip, but he had no business more pressing than the discovery of a continent.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany have concluded a peace treaty. It is specified that it shall stand for ten years. Even in these serious times one does not have the heart to forbid a man his little joke.

England took one of her crack trains from the track and sent it to Chicago for exhibition at the World's Fair. The train was shown here and there, on its way to the windy city on the lake, and the observant saw some mysterious rings in the varnish on the tables. They were caused by cold water. It may be that the Britons thought that they would give the Yankees a gentle hint that they had no reason to be too much puffed up over their 3.2 beer.

Mexico and Peru, who have been on the outs for about a year, have patched up their difficulties, which is a serious infraction of an old Spanish custom. No thriving Latin-American country should be without a war, a near-war, a revolution, or a presidential assassination.

It appears that before the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will accord loans to large concerns, it must be made clear that the salaries paid to the executives are reasonable. Otherwise a cut will be in order. The wisdom and justice of the demand is not to be questioned. How a corporation disposes of its profits in flush times is largely its own business, but it would be manifestly improper to take money raised by taxation, and distribute it as huge salaries to the top-notchers.

Switzerland is thinking of cutting the gold standard. If the change is due to the necessity for economy in public affairs, no one can claim that the Swiss navy is partly to blame.

The papers report that a steamer grounded in Lake Superior during the closing days of last month, rolled over, and sank, but not before her hundred or more passengers had been landed in safety. Things have not always turned out so well on the Lakes. For instance, the immigrant steamer Phoenix took 240 to the bottom in 1847, the Lady Elgin carried down 300 in 1860, and the car ferry Milwaukee sank with 52 in 1929. To fill the gaps between these dates would amount simply to wearisome repetition. The doings of those who follow the ocean are thoroughly written up and widely read. Both chroniclers and readers sometimes forget that right in the heart of the continent lie vast seas having stories of adventure which rival in interest those of the great deep.

Mr. Morgan is reported as being back on the job, passing the plate at the local Long Island church. That is not mentioned as a reflection on the church. It is to be hoped that the congregation did not follow what is said to be Mr. Morgan's line of reasoning with respect to the income tax.

About a month ago, Ellsworth, Me., had a two million dollar fire. On Sunday, the town was threatened with a fire that seemed likely to wipe out what was left. Both fires were set. Lightning does not strike twice in the same place. Incendiaries are not so considerate. We can get along fairly well with the elements. It is our brother man that makes most of the trouble.

Chicago opens its big fair by using the energy from a star to set the thousands of lamps going. There was a time when anyone suggesting the possibility of such a proceeding would have been handled roughly as a wizard, in league with Satan. He would have been lucky to get off with a few years in a dungeon, under ball and chain. The name Chicago is usually coupled in the popular mind with doings of gangsters, racketeers and thugs. There is an abundance of evidence that the world is moving forward if one takes the pains to search it out, or even give it a passing glance.

It is stated that Mr. Woodin may be transferred from his treasury post to the position of Ambassador to Germany. It cannot be insisted that the country will suffer by the change. Not that Mr.

Woodin is not well-fitted for his present place; rather, ambassadors just now had better know a good deal about finance. There is much satisfaction to be derived from the prospect of having a man so well trained as Mr. Woodin as our representative abroad.

Three men are killed in an auto race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. That was bad for the men, and worse for their surviving relatives and friends, but nothing to the discredit of auto-racing. The number of persons who worked themselves to death on that day is not recorded. Perhaps amusement and recreation are entitled to a few martyrs, as well as toil.

A little starch in the kitchen curtains will keep them clean longer.

A piece of lemon rind in the pot with cauliflower will eliminate the cooking odor and bleach the cauliflower so that it will come forth white rather than green.

hoped that the congregation did not follow what is said to be Mr. Morgan's line of reasoning with respect to the income tax.

About a month ago, Ellsworth, Me., had a two million dollar fire. On Sunday, the town was threatened with a fire that seemed likely to wipe out what was left. Both fires were set. Lightning does not strike twice in the same place. Incendiaries are not so considerate. We can get along fairly well with the elements. It is our brother man that makes most of the trouble.

Chicago opens its big fair by using the energy from a star to set the thousands of lamps going. There was a time when anyone suggesting the possibility of such a proceeding would have been handled roughly as a wizard, in league with Satan. He would have been lucky to get off with a few years in a dungeon, under ball and chain. The name Chicago is usually coupled in the popular mind with doings of gangsters, racketeers and thugs. There is an abundance of evidence that the world is moving forward if one takes the pains to search it out, or even give it a passing glance.

It is stated that Mr. Woodin may be transferred from his treasury post to the position of Ambassador to Germany. It cannot be insisted that the country will suffer by the change. Not that Mr.

Woodin is not well-fitted for his present place; rather, ambassadors just now had better know a good deal about finance. There is much satisfaction to be derived from the prospect of having a man so well trained as Mr. Woodin as our representative abroad.

Three men are killed in an auto race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. That was bad for the men, and worse for their surviving relatives and friends, but nothing to the discredit of auto-racing. The number of persons who worked themselves to death on that day is not recorded. Perhaps amusement and recreation are entitled to a few martyrs, as well as toil.

A little starch in the kitchen curtains will keep them clean longer.

A piece of lemon rind in the pot with cauliflower will eliminate the cooking odor and bleach the cauliflower so that it will come forth white rather than green.

HOSPITAL

Mrs. Margaret Marsh, daughter of Mrs. Matilda Lee, hospital patient, arrived Tuesday to be with her mother. Mrs. Marsh and Mrs. Lee are both of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. J. H. Turnage was admitted Monday night and the following day underwent a minor operation.

A daughter was born at noon Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Utchhoff of near Matthews. Mother and child are in good health.

Can you tell me which is sooner—To be a man and fill the purse, Or be a wife and have to buy With humble wits and practiced eye?

NEW TYPE OF CARPET

UG making and rug weaving have been popular among women's home crafts for centuries and now the ancient art finds a new expression in a special carpeting material just off the loom of a Sanford, Maine, mill.

With this new carpet, rugs of novel designs and a wide range of color combinations may be made in a short time, without the need of hand sewing or binding of edges and with a minimum of waste. Tape, cement and a safety razor blade are about the only tools required.

This interesting new craft is made possible because of the special composition backing on the carpet. This substance securely locks the wool fibers of the carpet in place and also permits joining sections together so that the seams are practically invisible and there is no danger of their tearing apart. Tests show that the joints of this new "seamless" carpet so formed withstand pulling of seventy-five pounds to the square inch, considerably more than is required in standard carpet material.

Inlays, monograms, special figures for the child's rooms or for other interiors are easily worked out either in the rugs or in the carpet. Eighteen colors selected from the latest trends in style are available and an unlimited field of design is open to the woman who has a special floor covering or decorating problem. Rugs of any size may be made, odd parts of the room fitted with a minimum of expense and labor and there are five different grades of the carpet for different installations.

The backing is strongly reinforced with a stout webbing, securely anchored to the back, the carpet is washable, it does not stretch nor bulge and the backing is waterproof.

DOUBLEHEADER GAME WITH CAPE SET FOR SUNDAY

CUBS AND REGULARS TO MEET CAPAHAS

The Cape Girardeau Capahas and the Sikeston Independents will meet in the first game of a double bill on the local diamond Sunday afternoon, announced Manager Ted Kirby today. The Sikeston Juniors, a cub team which has won a majority of its contests will meet a group of Girardeau youngsters in the nightcap. "This situation may be reversed", stated Kirby today, "but we assure fans that we will have two first class baseball games on tap Sunday afternoon for the price of one".

Sunday will be ladies' day at the park. Children are to be admitted for ten cents, adults for 35 cents, ladies free. The first game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Butler and Sherry will probably see service on the mound for the Sikeston regulars with Sutton working behind the plate. The youngsters will call upon Schafer and Crain for their twirling end. Byrd on the receiving end.

Manager Bill Sullivan of Cape Girardeau promises to bring a string of first rate players, qualified to duplicate the Charleston drumming suffered by the locals last Sunday.

SIKESTONIANS WILL ATTEND UTILITIES CONVENTION IN BLUFF

Practically the entire personnel of the Sikeston Board of Public Works, Dan G. Pepper, plant superintendent, Mayor N. E. Fuchs and members of the City Council are expected to attend some of the meetings of the annual convention of the Missouri Association of Municipal Utilities which convenes in Poplar Bluff Monday. The meeting is a two-day affair.

Mayor N. E. Fuchs is slated for a talk in which he will outline the progress of the local municipal plant, and give the Sikeston formula for successful operation.

Many State and national figures in the field of engineering, plant supervision, operation and distribution will be present to offer up-to-the-minute suggestions to those attending the convention. About 400 persons are expected to register.

LIONS HOLD ANNUAL FISH FRY WEDNESDAY

Members of the Sikeston Lions Club and a dozen invited guests assembled north of Morley near Highway 61 for their annual fish fry and chicken barbecue, taking the place of the regular weekly luncheon meeting. About 35 pounds of excellent cat fish, two or three chickens and several cases of liquid refreshments disappeared during the course of the evening.

TRUCKERS VIOLATING P. S. C. REGULATIONS DRAW STIFF FINES

W. A. Fisher operating a truck out of Indianapolis, Ind., was picked up Tuesday by Highway Troopers on a charge of operating without a Public Service Commission permit. Judge D. A. Hedge at Hayti assessed a fine of $25 and costs. Fisher's truck was loaded with six tons of canned corn, and was enroute to Memphis.

Charles Meyer of St. Louis was arrested Wednesday morning for having his truck incorrectly lettered. It was the first arrest in this district under this particular technical regulation of the Public Service Commission, and drew a fine of $12 and costs.

AUXILIARY NOTES

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Burris on Wednesday evening. The First Vice-President, Mrs. Wm. Foley, who assumes the chairmanship, presided. The letter from Mrs. Bryan Bradley resigning the office of President was read and accepted. A letter of appreciation to Mrs. Bradley will be written by the Secretary of the Auxiliary expressing the regrets of the Auxiliary at losing so valued an officer. The next meeting will be held June 21.

MIDWEST ICE CREAM TRACTOR DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT WEDNESDAY

The cab and tractor unit of the Midwest Products Company ice cream refrigerator truck was demolished in an unusual accident about 8 o'clock Wednesday night near the "Big Ditch" bridge east of the city.

Bryant Briggs, driver of the unit, was returning from Charleston and attempted to pass a motorist who, he stated, cut in sharply as he was about parallel. Bryant chose the motorist instead of the bridge railing and turned the heavy truck upsidetown in the center of the highway. The lighter automobile suffered the loss of one fender and a bumper. No one was injured.

CHARLESTON SCHOOL PICNIC SET FOR 14TH

The annual picnic of St. Henry's Catholic school will be held on the grounds at Charleston Wednesday, June 14, states a notice posted in this city. "A regular old time picnic dinner, games and concessions" are promised in addition to music by the Charleston high school band who will render an afternoon and a night concert.

Bright Woman Lost 20 Pounds

FEELS MUCH BETTER

"June 28th, 1932, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Have lost 20 pounds from June 28th to January 10. Feel better than have felt for four years. Was under doctors care for several months. He said I had gall stones and should have operation. Kruschen did all and more than I expected". Mrs. Late Bright, Walker, Minn., (January 10, 1933).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drug store in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar. -3

MISSISSIPPI MAYOR SETTLES NEGRO PROBLEM

Jackson, Miss., June 5.—Advised by the International Labor Defense of New York that he would be held directly responsible for the safety of a negro wanted in South Mississippi for shooting a farmer, Mayor Scott tonight wired the northern organization to "go to hell". The telegram to Mayor Scott was from National Secretary Patterson.

"And I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth"

For years business has been burying its talents, putting its money under cover. Today men are wondering why there is no crop of profits.

At every discussion of something constructive two questions have raised their heads: "What will it cost?" "Is it absolutely necessary?"

Withering questions, these. In times of reduced income they wear an air of finality that shrivels initiative. It is no joke that business conditions have been called "The Repression". Business men have talked about orders—but always it was the other fellow who should do the ordering.

In every store, factory and office lies a wealth of ideas covered with dust no man dares scrape away for fear of being called extravagant.

Yet the talent must be dug up, the silver brightened, its wealth put to work for its master, The Public. We cannot—will not—forever continue a hopeful watching of idle funds, idle ideas, idle hands. American Business must again turn to the task of making each measure of silver earn another.

Business is first of all a movement of minds. Movement that is; not a staking of ideas to one spot. And printing is the greatest of all devices to urge a mass of minds to constructive action. Trade and industry—half of the wealth-producing activity of the country—depend on the constant interchange of ideas on paper—on letterheads record cards, printed forms, advertising pages.

It is high time for American Business to return to its normal habits—to balance wise buying against aggressive selling, to earn new dollars instead of merely burying old ones, to make the printed word again take up its load of business management.

The printing industry is basic in the prosperity of America, a barometer of business thinking. Idle presses are an index of idle ideas in industry. Let's put ideas to work, dollars to work. The time has come for an accounting of stewardship.

Let it no longer be said that we are afraid, and hide our talent in the earth.

Commercial Printers

As we get it from reading article No. 2 in the Southeast Missourian, things could be a lot better in Cape Girardeau and still not make that newspaper mad.

A great acreage of cotton has been planted between Sikeston and Blytheville, Ark., and is looking pretty good. Few wheat fields ready for the harvest and, from the road, looks very good. If there were any corn fields they were not seen. Several good fields of alfalfa.

A trip from Sikeston to Jefferson City the past week-end showed a desolate condition insofar as farm prospects were to be considered. Few wheat fields and fewer corn patches. Some live stock and poultry. The only pleasant spot on the way was a Falstaff joint at Fredericktown.

We have been asked by a number of citizens what we thought of the chances for a favorable decision on the necessity and convenience of a new bridge over the Missouri River. We held before the Public Service Commission at Jefferson City last Friday, and we hesitate to make the decision for the Commission for fear it would not be ethical. However, we will say that the foolish talk of cutting down the poles of the Missouri River bridge within the city limits should be squelched before it gets a start.

The extreme heat of Tuesday afternoon caused a couple of girls in a Sikeston office to dare one another to remove their stockings—and they did. The necessary coolness did not arrive and so they removed their undershirts and if 6:00 o'clock hadn't arrived, both would likely have been taken home in a barrel.

The Standard editor has no intention of tearing his undergarments over the shortage of money to maintain schools throughout the State. The little red school house has been abandoned and consolidated schools voted on taxpayers' laws providing busses and a driver to go all over the neighborhood to gather enough children to make a respectable showing in these consolidated buildings. The right for every child to have equal opportunity to get an education stands good, but contains a good deal of fustlediddles.

The first time since we have been paragraphing editorially, we have set aside a paragraph already in type. This was a paragraph about the dissolving of Dan Gomez from Division 10, State Highway Department. This paragraph will be held in type to be printed later if conditions remain as is. To print same now might injure a cause that we are much interested in and not from fear. The only way for the Powers That Be, in State and Nation to find out how the Press feels about political conditions is for the Press to give them hell in a dignified way or otherwise.

Southeast Missouri editors will be in Sikeston next Friday, June 16, for their annual meeting. This meeting will be a quiet affair to what International Shoe Day and Drummers' Days were, but nevertheless, appropriate entertainment will be provided for them and business men and merchants will benefit greatly by attending the meeting.

Some days since, a call was sent forth by the Chamber of Commerce of Cape Girardeau to cities and towns along Highway 61 from West Memphis north, to meet at Blytheville, Ark., Tuesday, June 6, at 2 o'clock, to perfect an organization to try to divert traffic from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and other States over Highway 61, to Chicago and points north and east, and to cross the Mississippi River at Cape Girardeau.

At the appointed hour there appeared one representative from Cape Girardeau, four from Benton, four from Sikeston, one from Steele, and two from Blytheville. After drinking quite a bit of ice water, and visiting for a while, those present thought it best not to attempt an organization with so few from the north section and none from the south section, until those most interested could get co-operation from Memphis, who would, doubtless, have a lot to do with the routing of traffic to the Chicago Exposition and St. Louis.

The mileage from West Memphis to Chicago is approximately ten miles longer, but no ferry to delay and hard roads every mile.

Recently a Southeast Missouri newspaper confessed to having paid 33 cents income tax which put him 33 notches ahead of Morgan. This leads this newspaper to wonder if he had to borrow the 33 cents and how he was fixed on local taxes.

According to press reports France will default on her debt payment to the United States. Passports should be denied any citizen of the United States to foreign countries who default in the payments of their obligation to this country.

1000 MEN WILL BE AT WORK IN CAMPS JULY 1

IMPROVING STATE PARKS IS PROPOSED

State Game and Fish Commissioner Wilbur C. M. Buford announced here recently that by July 1 he expects to have 1000 men at work at the first five forestry camp sites selected for carrying out the provisions of the national emergency reforestation program in Missouri.

These first projects will embrace beautification and improvement of the State park system. Buford said it is his intention to establish water systems in the parks, build roads, construct fire lines and fire towers and otherwise add to the comfort and safety of visitors during the summer vacation seasons.

The first five camps selected are in the Ozarks section of the State and are at or near Indian Trail State Park in Dent County, Deer Run State Park in Reynolds County, Meramec State Park in Franklin County, Big Spring State Park in Carter County and Roaring River State Park in Franklin County.

One of the definite projects already decided upon, which will be rushed to completion as soon as possible, is the construction of a concrete dam across a slough near the Big Spring to prevent a possible inundation of the spring by the Current River in times of high water.

Citizens Protest Dust on Sikeston Streets; Need Oil

Dust, dust, dust. Mrs. Sikeston Housewife is demanding action and immediate action on this one item. "No need to clean house." "Isn't that terrible." "We just about smother in the day time, but one can't keep the doors and windows open on account of the dust." These and similar comments have brought pressure to bear on businesslike business men who make up the Council.

Obviously the ladies win the first hand, possibly because Councilmen at home are just average husbands who have heard the anti-dust refrain sung in every key on the scale. At any rate, the Council at its regular meeting Monday night, authorized the purchase of a carload, approximately 10,000 gallons of oil.

But the average husbands in Council session laid down a bare, hard, cold rule.

"No pay, no oil!" "Heretofore, we have had just as many complaints about dust," commented one of the City Fathers. "And we went ahead and ordered oil, paid for having it applied to streets, and then heard complaints from rate property owners who didn't want the oil and absolutely refused to pay for it—after it was applied to streets!"

The books of the city clerk are full of red ink marking previous attempts to collect for road oiling after the dust was settled. This year, insists the Council, homeowners will pay only for the oil which costs 2.738 cents per gallon delivered. No charge will be made for applying the black stuff to the roadbed.

Those who desire to please their wives by settling the dust menace need only indicate their preference by calling on the City Clerk—and plunking down the necessary mazzuma. The cost will be so much per front foot, to be determined some time this week by members of the street and alley committee.

ARKANSAS GOLF MATCH ARRANGED

A home and home series of golf matches with the Blytheville, Ark. club will get underway Sunday afternoon, 1 o'clock, when Sikeston entertains the visitors on the local links. Sikeston country club members will repay the visit July 30.

The two tournaments will have no effect upon the Sikeston rating in the annual Southeast Missouri Round Robin tourney play. At present the locals are runners-up having lost one match to Poplar Bluff while the latter are undisputed leaders in the five-club circuit.

GRANDMOTHER OF MITZI MAYFAIR LIVES IN SIKESTON

Those who saw "The Way of all Fleshmen" at the Malone Theatre Sunday or Monday night probably marveled at the dancing ability of Mitzi Mayfair, co-star of the short reels of entertainment. How that young lady could dance.

Her grandmother, lives in Sikeston, according to reliable information reaching The Standard.

For several years checks have been arriving from Hollywood made payable to Mrs. Lovie Jones, 407 Northwest Street. They were cashed by a local bank. Mrs. Jones is at present recuperating from a serious operation in a St. Louis hospital and could not be reached for an interview. Duree Medley, manager of the Malone Theatre visited the Northwest street home Monday with the intention of issuing a special invitation to Grandmother Jones to visit the theatre that night to see her daughter on the screen.

Mitzi Mayfair's real name is Nina Pique.

SEMO FARMERS INVITED TO VISIT EXPERIMENT FARM

FIRST FIELD MEETING SET FOR JUNE 12

A meeting which should be of interest to every farmer in Southeast Missouri will be held at the Experiment Field, four miles north of Sikeston on Highway 61, Monday, June 12, at 1:30 o'clock.

At this meeting results of the various fertilizer and variety tests secured at this field will be discussed.

Professor H. H. Krusekopf, of the Soils Department of the Missouri College of Agriculture, Professor B. M. King in charge of the experimental cotton work in Missouri, and Dr. Ide P. Trotter, Soils Specialist, will be in charge of the different phases of discussion. Those who can arrange to attend will find this a very profitable meeting, says County Agent Nance, who would like for at least an automobile load of farmers from each community to visit this field on that day.

MALLOY SLAYING IS INVESTIGATED

Poplar Bluff, June 6.—The death of Eli Malloy, 51-year-old Missouri Pacific bridge carpenter, today led to an investigation by J. Richard Reynolds, coroner, assisted by Prosecuting Attorney John Phillips. The jury after deliberating about forty minutes returned a verdict at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon to the effect that Malloy "came to his death at the hands of parties unknown."

An inquest, started at 10 o'clock this morning, was ordered after Malloy, who was shot Saturday night at the Rocky Ford barbecue resort, two miles west of Poplar Bluff, died at 4:10 p. m., Monday, at the Poplar Bluff Hospital.

Malloy was an innocent victim of a gang fight at the resort, which is owned by Newt Frisby. He was standing nearby when the fight developed, followed by the shooting. A bullet penetrated his chest.

Several Questioned During the afternoon session of the inquest, six witnesses were examined. They testified to about the same facts that were brought out during the morning session.

Evidence developed at the inquest, tended to show that N. E. Frisby, proprietor of the resort, fired the shot that struck Malloy, and that he was shooting at Claude "Fat" Poyner, one of the combatants, as the latter fled from the scene of the fight. Witness after witness took the stand and swore that only one shot was fired, that Frisby fired it at Poyner and then chased Poyner through the grounds, striking at him with his gun and that the gun flew from his hand and rolled on the ground.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP TO CONDUCT SERVICES AT HARTY HOME SUNDAY

Bishop Johnson, of the Episcopal diocese of Missouri, will be in this city Sunday afternoon and conduct a service of evening prayer and preach at 4:30 o'clock at the home of H. L. Hartly, 735 North Ranney. This service is open to all who care to come.

GOVERNOR PARK MAY VISIT CITY FRIDAY, JUNE 16

TO ADDRESS SEMO EDITORS IN SESSION HERE

Unless something unforeseen happens to interfere Governor Guy B. Park "will be delighted to be with Southeast Missouri newspaper folks Friday, June 16 on the occasion of the annual meeting of the Southeast Missouri Press Association," according to a letter received from Mack Denman, corresponding secretary of the organization.

Governor Park intends to bring with him Walter Williams, President of the University of Missouri, and Frank Martin, Dean of the Missouri School of Journalism, and all three will appear on an unusually interesting program.

Another distinguished member of the newspaper fraternity, Dwight H. Brown, former Poplar Bluff newspaper editor, now Secretary of State, is scheduled to appear on the program.

Members of the Association voted recently to hold the meeting to a one-day session. It will begin at 10 o'clock at the Marshall Hotel. Rev. Leslie Garrison, pastor of the Baptist church will give the invocation, and H. C. Blanton, local attorney, the address of welcome.

Paul Jones, of the Dunkin Democrat, will deliver the response. Following a reading of minutes of last session, members of the association will listen to a talk by Charles Keller, Executive Secretary of the Missouri Press Association, and at 11:30 o'clock, to a short talk by Dean Frank Martin.

Appointment of necessary committees will complete the morning session.

Luncheon will be served at the Del Rey Hotel.

The afternoon and evening session programs follow:

Afternoon Session 1:30—At the Marshall Hotel—Address, Wallace Crossley, Warrenton, President Missouri Press Association.

Address—Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State.

Round Table, conducted by Harry Denman, Farmington Times.

The 57th General Assembly with special reference to publications in the newspapers and public printing—John P. Campbell, Prospect-News, Doniphan.

Balancing the Country Newspaper Budget—P. L. Zoeller, Republican, Perryville.

Subscription and Advertising Rates, Should They Be Lowered?—Fred Kies, Post, Jackson.

How to Avoid the Press Day Bugbear—L. Bouchard, News, Flat River.

How the Country Editor may Keep the Gray Hairs Away—O. J. Ferguson, Democrat-News, Fredericktown.

How to Cover Special Local Events in a Big Way—Jno. H. Wolpers, American, Poplar Bluff.

Address—Walter Williams, President Missouri State University.

Report of Committees Election of officers and selection of 1934 meeting place.

Evening Session 7:00—Invocation—Rev. E. H. Orear, Pastor Methodist church.

Toastmaster—Ralph E. Bailey.

Music Entertainment Address—Governor Guy B. Park, at Methodist church.

CAR USED BY HOLDUP MEN FOUND TUESDAY

SERIES OF ROBBERIES NEAR CAPE GIRONDES POLICE

Cape Girardeau, June 6.—Another holdup today and the recovery of a stolen motor car marked the trail of two "youthful bandits" who staged two robberies in this immediate vicinity Sunday night and escaped in a 1931 model Ford coupe automobile they took from a young couple in one of the holdups. The route of the bandit pair became more plainly identified as the car was recovered early this morning at the side of Highway 25, near Blomeyer.

An Oran man, his wife and daughter were the victims early today when an automobile coupe forced their car to the side of the road and two youths, their faces masked with white handkerchiefs, leaped from the car, covered the trio with revolvers, took about $5 in money, and sped away.

On Road Near Delta

The third holdup was reported to have taken place at 12:30 a. m. today on Highway 25, near Delta, but only meager details were received here by officers.

W. S. Keller, 544 North Main street, while driving along Highway 25 near Blomeyer early today saw a Ford coupe automobile parked about 60 feet off the right-of-way in weeds. Noticing the door open and no one about, his suspicions were aroused. Investigating, he found the car had been abandoned and its license plates, smeared with mud, were those belonging to a Ford coupe taken by the bandits Sunday night on a side road south of the cement plant from Chester Nations, 205 South Sprigg Street, and Miss Ada Hannebrink, 237 Themos street, the latter being the owner.

The ignition key was in the lock and the spare tire had been removed. Keller drove to police headquarters and reported to Chief of Police J. E. Crafton, who notified Nations and sent Patrolman Paul McNeely with him to get the car.

Nations identified the car as the one owned by Miss Hannebrink and taken in the Sunday night robbery. The vehicle was in good running order and apparently had not been subjected to hard use.—Cape Missourian.

BAND DIRECTOR MAY LOCATE HERE

C. C. Sergeant for the past two years associated with the Poplar Bluff high school bands and instrumental in building those organizations to their present state of perfection, visited Sikeston Tuesday and talked with civic leaders regarding the formation of such an organization here.

Under the plan advanced jointly by those interested in forming a band and by Mr. Sergeant he would be required to devote approximately one-half of his time to Sikeston students, and spend the rest of his time with the Poplar Bluff organizations until this fall, when he might be expected to locate here on a full-time basis.

At the present time the Sikeston Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club and the American Legion are interested in sponsoring a Sikeston band under his direction, he stated. He would spend some time with the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps in developing that organization.

The director has been unusually successful in building new organizations, of creating and sustaining interest, and in turning out finished amateur musicians within a relatively short time. He will return to Sikeston possibly one night next week for the purpose of calling all interested candidates together, and of laying the ground work for a real Sikeston band.

Pet Cat Bites Mrs. Rose Proffer Rabies Test Made

The head of a pet cat which Sunday bit Mrs. Rose Proffer on the arm has been sent to the State Health Department, Jefferson City, for examination, according to a local physician in charge of the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Proffer had started to spend the day in Lutesville last Sunday when the pet began to act strangely, bit the woman, and died soon thereafter with convulsions.

NO WONDER FLY CAN DODGE SWAT—HAS 8000 EYES

The common house fly, although it seems to have only two eyes, really has 8000 eyes. The seeing mechanism of the fly and other insects is very different from that of man and animals, and consists of thousands of independent light catching cells which bring the light to delicate frayed ends of the optic nerve, points out a bulletin. The eyes of an insect cannot be closed in sleep and cannot be moved from side to side. The average insect is very near-sighted and cannot see more than a yard or two away. There are more than 10,000 different kinds of insects in the world.

Not only do insects have poor eyes, as measured from the very efficient eye mechanism found in the human body, but they actually have no lungs. Instead of blood circulating through their bodies, carrying life-giving oxygen, tubes lead to all parts of the body through which the air passes. Many holes to let in the air are located in various parts of the skin, so that it is difficult to smother an insect unless most of these holes are closed.

MERCURY SOARS TO 102 HERE WEDNESDAY

WEATHERMAN PROMISES RAIN AND COOLER

The weather moderated considerably Thursday, dropping nearly four degrees below the extreme point of 102 reached Wednesday afternoon for a new high June record. At 1:30 o'clock Thursday the mercury stood a fraction above 98, said John LaFont, official weather recorder, who suggested that the column might reach 99 or a fraction over.

The weatherman for this district saw some promise of thunder showers and scattered rains within the next twenty-four hours with a corresponding drop in temperatures.

One hundred and two degrees weather Wednesday afternoon gave Sikestonians their first taste of real summer temperature this season. The mercury in the official thermometer presided over by John LaFont, went slightly past the 102 mark, but counting the even figure satisfied most folks that it was hot weather.

Among other things the heat caused overtime for highway repair crews. Nine blowups had been reported in the vicinity of Sikeston between noon and four o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Four occurred south of the city on the Arkansas line, three west of Sikeston, one near Morley and one near Morehouse. The latter almost wrecked the automobile of an Illinois tourist who happened to drive over that particular section of the concrete that blew up. A dent in his right front fender gave evidence of the power expended in the process.

In each case, however, patrol-

COUNCIL DROPS MERCHANT TAX RATE MONDAY

LOWER RATE WILL CUT INCOME $1000

The ancient bone of contention in Sikeston, that of adjusting merchants' license rates was again the principle subject up for settlement at the last regular meeting of the City Council Monday night.

But the changes finally agreed upon and incorporated in an ordinance effective for July 1 collections, lowers the rate on most lines of business, says the City Fathers. Last year merchants taxes amounted in total to nearly $5000. The exact figure, as given by records of P. H. Stevenson, City Clerk is $4946.60 for the year 1932. It is practically impossible to state accurately what the new schedule of rates will bring in, but estimates of the reduction run from $1000 as a minimum to $1500 as a maximum.

150 Health Hazards

The problem of regulating or correcting health hazards caused by outdoor toilets and pig pens within the city limits received considerable discussion following the report of J. N. Sheppard, who for the past thirty days has been conducting a survey. Mr. Sheppard reported approximately 150 unsanitary units in the city.

The Council agreed to notify all property owners officially, and after a reasonable time has elapsed and the condition is not rectified, legal steps will be taken to have the hazards to health removed or corrected.

"But there is no such thing as a sanitary hog pen," commented the investigator, and brought down the house.

Stallcup Resigns

The resignation of L. M. Stallcup as city treasurer was accepted at the Monday night meeting. His successor has not been appointed. The retiring finance officer requested the city to stand one-half the loss resulting from the sale of bonds held in escrow by the city to secure funds on deposit. The portion of the city under this arrangement would be $136.87, and a similar amount would be charged as loss by the Sikeston Trust Co. depository of city funds. The matter was referred to the finance committee for settlement.

Too Much Traffic

Twenty-one residents on South Kingshighway petitioned the Council to regulate the flow of heavy traffic on that boulevard, and received an ordinance limiting the net weight carried by trucks to 5000 pounds.

The all-night rumble of heavy freighters disturbs sleepers along this street which is optional Highway 61 through Sikeston from south to north.

Tax levies will remain unchanged for another year at least, states another ordinance placing a tax of 50 cents for general revenue and 60 cents for sinking fund on each $100 valuation within the city limits. The poll tax on able bodied male citizens between the ages 21 to 50 also remains the same, $2.00 per year. The rates have been in effect since 1926.

Regular reports, allowing of bills and their discussion consumed the rest of the time of the city lawmakers.

men, or State Highway Department workers marked the breaks with warning signs, or flags until crews could make temporary repairs.

The mercury has been climbing steadily for a week since June 1, according to Mr. LaFont's records. The chart showing high and low readings each day since June 1 follows:

	Hi	Low
June 1	82	59
2	84	57
3	89	60
4	96	63
5	95	69
6	97	71
7	102	70

Heat Causes Death

Heat prostration Tuesday caused the death of Theodore C. Bryant, 65, at his home in Red Star suburb of Cape Girardeau, near the Mississippi River. A neighbor, Charles Self, discovered the body and notified officers.

Cairo, Ill., June 7.—The hottest weather of this year was experienced here Monday afternoon when the mercury soared to an official temperature of 93 about 3 o'clock on the thermometer at the United States weather bureau. And there was a probability that a still higher temperature would be recorded here this afternoon, the mercury having climbed to 91 at noon and to 93 at 2 o'clock, with indications of going higher unless cooling winds or clouds intervened.

CAMP O-RALL OPENS FRIDAY IN POPLAR BLUFF

ANNUAL SCOUT FETE TO ATTRACT 125 BOYS

Poplar Bluff, June 7.—Approximately 125 Boy Scouts, from 15 Southeast Missouri towns, will assemble in Poplar Bluff Friday night, for the Southeast Missouri Area Camp-O-Rall, which will be in progress throughout Saturday and Sunday.

The Camp-O-Rall is one of the high lights of the Scout year and the coming one is the first to be attempted in the Southeast Missouri Area. Each troop in the Area is privileged to send one patrol of eight Scouts that will compete with other patrols in craftsmanship, athletics, and in other lines of Scout activities. For two days and two nights the boys will live in tents, cooking their meals over campfires.

Use Park Site

Waterworks Park has been selected as the Camp-O-Rall site. Herbert H. Freer, chairman of the Camp-O-Rall committee, has practically completed camp plans and has arranged for necessary supplies and equipment to be on the grounds when visiting Scouts arrive. Incoming patrols will furnish their own food, bedding and provide firewood, straw for beds, and materials for use in various contests. Each patrol will have its own campfire.

Patrols will be graded on efficiency in Scout work. Observers will be constantly on the ground to inspect each patrol, grading them and turning in reports to the official scorer.

The Camp-O-Rall will be open to the public. There will be something going on every minute and visitors to the camp will have an opportunity of seeing first hand just what Scouts of the Area are doing.

Cecil G. Morrison, Area Scout Executive, arrived here today and will remain in this city until after the Camp-O-Rall.

Equipment List

Following is a list of the equipment which patrols and individual Scouts who attend the Camp-O-Rall must have:

Tents. Material to construct camp kitchen.

Cooking utensils: Frying pan, pancake turner, stew kettle, Dutch oven or pail for bean hole beans.

Rake or broom. Soap.

Ground cloth and tick if Scout sleeps on ground. Cots will be permitted, but not encouraged.

Troop or patrol flag or insignia. Material for the following menu. Other things may be added, and fresh meat, etc., may be obtained at Poplar Bluff.

Pancakes, cornbread or hoe cake, kabob, hot biscuits, cocoa, ham's stew, rice pudding, bean hole beans, scrambled eggs.

Eight pieces each cord 5 ft. long, string, fire by friction stick and tinder, 2 pieces graph paper, 2 gauze pads, material for treating shock, 2 Morse flags, paper, pencils, plane table, arm spirit, 2 pins, 1 compass, 6-ft. staff, Scout axe, 5 triangular bandages, thumb tacks, ruler, protractor.

Individual equipment: Bedding, 2 complete changes clothing, soap, tea towels, toilet articles, hand towels, bathing suits.

Physical examination approved by local M. D. Be sure your Scouts are in good health. The program will be strenuous. Neither you, your Scout, nor the Council can afford to take chances.

Mail your entry blank as soon as possible. It was sent to you some time ago and is greatly needed by June 1st.

Those in the Sikeston patrol from Troop 41, who will attend the Camp-O-Rall are: Leonard Colley, Joe Dover, Bobby Dover, Ben Bowman, Purvis Orrell, Charles Tanner, Paul Bowman and T. Wilson.

Sellards Market Cooling System As In Operation

The huge cooling plant recently installed by Sellards' Meat Market, Frisco, was placed in operation this week, according to J. E. Sellards, owner-operator.

A four-ton Frick cooling machine will readily cool 36,000 square feet of box space, which is more than adequate under present conditions. The new cooler is the largest meat market box in the city, and can be kept at a constant temperature ranging from 28 degrees to 36. It is used only for storage of beef, veal, hog and mutton in large quantities. Retail sales are handled through a smaller box in the front part of the shop.

"This new installation will enable us to take care of a constantly expanding local and district market for good, home-killed meats, handled under strictly sanitary conditions," stated Mr. Sellards regarding the expensive improvement.

Now we went off the gold; that is, you had a government bond and it said they would pay you in gold; now they won't. Well, you can alibi the situation, but that is repudiation. But they claim it was necessary, and we needed the money. Now if they can do that in an emergency, why can't they pass another one to do away with the tax clause on all tax exempt bonds? There would be more justice in that, for everybody bought 'em just to evade the tax. In other words, we knew we were buying a stolen car when we bought it, but that's why we bought it. When you repudiate all tax exempt bonds you only beat 'em out three or four per cent, but when you repudiated the gold, it will take years to find out what you beat him out of.—Will Rogers.

As I See It

By—
Art L. Wallhausen

We have had occasion to comment before on Hitler's edict which resulted in the destruction of thousands of books of literature, social civics, finance and theory of government.

The world watched patiently while the German despot ruled his khaki-clad loyalists with thinly veiled Communistic regulations, but when he endeavored to stop the free interchange of ideas by control of the press, and finally acted the supreme nitwit by ordering the burning of books which fail to conform to his idea of government—Hitler lost heavily in good will. We express this thought knowing that it will probably cause him no end of sleepless nights.

And speaking of sleepless nights reminds us that very few of us do anything about comfort in hot weather. Homes are built to withstand cold rather well. We have heating plants to supply the lacking warmth in winter, but when summer arrives nothing is done in the way of artificial cooling. Great strides have been made in that direction, but very, very little within the buying range of Mr. and Mrs. Average Homeowner.

The day is just around the corner when home building as we know it, will be practically a thing of the past. General Houses, Inc., is a corporation containing the best minds in a dozen corporations of our day and time.

General Houses has made a number of test homes of steel and other similar materials. They are not yet on the market. When they will be placed for sale generally 4 to 6-room homes will be sold for $1200 to $1800.

Then a building program for a couple will sound something like this. Buy lot on Monday. Order home XY456 complete on Tuesday. It will be delivered, knocked down the following day, and erected within a week by a force of three or four experts. Mr. and Mrs. New Homeowner move in the following Monday and pay for their home to General Houses, Inc., by the month just as they pay for the automobile, their radio or a new vacuum cleaner.

Lumber dealers, painters and carpenters will not like the idea at first, but that is coming.

Some of our friends have called to inquire about our sanity, but thus far our predictions have been based entirely upon facts as we dig them up. Want more?

The writer of this column would appreciate receiving signed, SHORT articles commenting upon world topics, this sense and nonsense, criticism, praise if any, and anything else not salacious or libelous from readers. Names must be signed to articles, but they will not be printed unless requested.

Paragraph length articles are much more in demand than long, detailed stuff. Religion and politics are barred.

We thought it was hot in Sikeston Wednesday, but we had a mighty cool day compared with Chicago. If the Cairo Evening Citizen is correct, the mercury went to 992 Wednesday, "setting a new June high record."

Yes, Editor Fisher, even for a newspaper published in Little Egypt, we still believe that (.) between the 9 and 2 would have made it read correcter.

A furniture store that advertises regularly in The Sikeston Standard probably gets more than its money's worth from its ads. It is called "The Lair Store" and we have been reading their ad every week to find out how soon the type setter will make the mistake of setting the I in front of the A in the name.—La Plata Home Press.

Shameful Prison Over-Crowding

Our colonial forefathers, herding the insane and criminals together in common jails or confining them in caves and dungeons, showed as much humanity, according to their light, as Missourians with their latest report of 4755 inmates in the penitentiary at Jefferson City. We know better. Our colonial fathers did not. Missouri's penitentiary is built to care properly for barely 2300. The 4755 make the place a hell-hole. It means crowded cells, bad air, insanitary and immoral contacts, perpetuation and inevitable increase of crime and disease.

What prisoner can emerge from such surroundings with anything but a grudge against the society that sent him there? Pardonings and paroles of hardened offenders are made necessary before they are deserved, to make room for newcomers. Punishment and expiation under such circumstances become disgrace and torture for any inmate with a spark of decency left. Yet this goes on year after year. Feeble gestures are made by State executives to remedy it, and the legislature permits the evil to grow steadily worse. The State needs not a larger prison, but an additional prison somewhere else. No penal institution with 4755 inmates can be run efficiently or serve its purpose. Are there not enough Missourians, humane minded and with a conception of what this situation means to public welfare, to force State government to act?—St. Louis Star-Times.

Chasing Food Bargains Is Sport If You Are Living On 50c. A Day

Professor Rose Gives Suggestions For Tasty Healthful Economy Meals

This is the last of six articles showing how you can live healthfully on 50 cents a day.

By Dr. Mary S. Rose
Professor of Nutrition, Columbia University

You will want to know how anyone can live on 50 cents a day and not get bored with the small selection of foods available.

I have tried, in devising the menus, to give you the fundamentals of a healthful, economical diet. This is an emergency diet, and naturally does not contain foods selected just for their variety or flavor. Nevertheless, it is possible to get a little variety into it. Chasing food bargains may become as exciting as finishing a jigsaw puzzle.

Cocoa Milk Shakes
Here are some suggestions: Buy a small can of cocoa syrup at a grocery store, and use it to flavor your morning or evening milk. Make a tasty cold soup by mixing a can of tomato puree and a can of evaporated milk. This can be taken either cold or warm, and is excellent food. You can also enrich your milk by adding a can of evaporated milk to a quart of fresh milk. Nothing you can buy will give you so much health protection for the money spent.

Buy a small loaf of sliced whole wheat bread and a jar of peanut butter. Remember that whole wheat bread does not keep well unless kept enclosed in its wax wrap. Make peanut butter sandwiches to eat with your milk. Peanut butter is rich, excellent food, inexpensive, and will keep. As far as nutrition is concerned, milk, whole wheat bread, and tomato puree form a perfect combination.

Crackers and Milk
If you like crackers with your milk, buy graham or whole wheat or rye crackers. They contain more food elements than white crackers for the same expenditure. You can make fine crackers-and-milk dish, giving it additional flavor and food value, by slicing a banana into it and adding a spoonful of sugar. All the equipment you need for this is a bowl, spoon and knife, and only one dish to wash.

Vary the meals you take in your room by eating potato chips with your bread and milk, now and then.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. ALICE CLARK HELD AT MOREHOUSE WED.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the Morehouse Methodist church for Mrs. Alice Clark, 54, formerly of Morehouse, but more recently of Houston, Texas, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Crumpecker, in Houston, Monday, June 5, of heart trouble. Rev. M. A. Massey of Hornersville, her former pastor, assisted by Rev. Simeon Shaw, pastor of the Morehouse Methodist church, officiated, with burial in the Sikeston City Cemetery, the Rebekah Lodge in charge.

Mrs. Clark was born in Stoddard County, and was a many years a resident of Morehouse until recently when she went to make her home with her daughter in Houston. She was preceded in death ten years ago by her husband, Jos. E. Clark. She was a member of the Morehouse Methodist church and of the Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Clark had been failing in health for the past six months, but had been gradually slipping away for two months previous to her death. The body arrived in Morehouse Wednesday morning accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crumpecker and a niece, Mrs. Joe Moebee, and was taken to the home of Mrs. A. C. Whitener, previous to the funeral services.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Clark is survived by two grandchildren, Bonnie Joe and Anna Lee Crumpecker; and four brothers, Chas. and Joe Boswell of Farmington, John Boswell of Doe Run and Will of Los Angeles, Calif., and several other relatives.

GIRARDEAU YOUTH IS PAROLED IN BURGLARY OF MOREHOUSE CAFE
New Madrid, June 6.—Edward McBee, 20 years old, of Cape Girardeau, who last January drove an automobile occupied by Frank Casey and another man during the burglary of a Morehouse Cafe, was given a 2-year sentence and a parole in Circuit Court, Monday.

McBee signed a confession shortly after his arrest in which he told of driving the automobile. He was charged with being an accessory to the fact.

The burglary happened a few hours before Cape Girardeau police raided a Water Street flat in that city, killing Thomas R. Crawford and John Huff. McBee was not in the flat at the time, his confession states.

Captain Shores recently assisted in the preliminary examination of recruits from several counties of Southeast Missouri, being stationed at Cape Girardeau during that time, where a concentration point was formed.

STATE BEGINS HEARINGS ON RAIL AND TRUCK RATES

Jefferson City, June 5.—A series of hearings, called by the State Public Service Commission in the attempt to "adjust and harmonize the freight rate structures of truck and railroads", started today. About 150 truck operators and railroads' representatives appeared. Taking note of the railroads' complaints against charges made for trucking intrastate freight shipments, the commission had made all truck operators defendants. The commission first will investigate the reasonableness and lawfulness of all local and joint motor carrier and steam railroad rates, according to J. C. Collett, chairman.

CHAPTER XXIV

"I'm boring you..." said Blondie, glancing at her watch.
"No—you could never bore me... situations bore me, though. I'm getting to distrust everyone and everything—I think it must be age..."
"You look very well!"
"So do you... it's not fair for one person to have so much charm—what does it feel like to be a great success?"
"Success!"
"Miss McClune wears this—she smokes that... I'm always reading about you."
"You're laughing at me, really?"
"You wouldn't have me cry over you, would you?"
"You couldn't cry if you tried—over anyone!"
"You mean I'm not sincere?..." I was sincere with you... Larry paused for an answer, but Blondie was silent. "...and you know it," he added.
"Well—now is another day, isn't it?"
"Yes, tummy, isn't it?"
"Very funny—that's why I laugh..." and the room echoed with his mocking laughter.
"She'll be a lucky woman—who really gets you seriously..."
"The lady who did get me seriously—did turn out to be very lucky..." and Larry looked around the luxurious room again.

"And who was that?"
"Well, if this place isn't a palace of luck in a circus, I guess I don't know what it is—walk up, boys and girls, and take your chances for the big life—whoopee!"
Blondie was trembling now as she watched Larry and listened to his bitter tirade against her. Oh, she thought, if she could only put her arms around him and beg him to take her out of all this.
They were interrupted by the ringing of the door bell.
"Who is it?" asked Larry.
"Lurline."
"Why?" asked Larry, seriously.
"Wait!"
"No—why?"
"Please—for me," pleaded Blondie.
"No," insisted Larry, but Lurline swept into the room.
"Hello, Larry," she said, surprised.
"Hello," replied Larry, coldly.
"Hello, Lurline!" greeted Blondie.
"Hello—it's like old home week!" said Lurline.
"Sit down, Lurline—Larry has to hurry."
"Now that I'm here—it's a wonder he doesn't dive right through the window."
"I'm saving that until the market goes right down!"
"Tea, Lurline—or a drink?"
"What do you think?"
"Champagne!" Blondie said, turning to the butler.
"When I received your message to 'come at once' I was afraid you were sick—what's it all about?"
"I've been worried!" said Blondie.
"You look it," sarcastically from Lurline, as she glanced around the room.
"I feel that I was the cause of you and Larry breaking up..." Blondie said, seriously.
"Well—" Lurline started to interrupt.

may be a bump in a lot of ways, but I'm honest..."
Suddenly he turned to Blondie and his voice shook with feeling:
"And I was honest with you—when I told you—" Larry stopped. "What does it matter now?—it's too late!" he added, dejectedly.
"You'll have to marry and settle down some day!" Blondie exclaimed quickly.
"To whom?" asked Lurline, sharply.
"That's a long story—if I treated you badly, I'm sorry—very sorry..." and thanks, little Blondie, for a sweet thought. I've always known you were fine—fine... Goodbye, kids!"
"Good luck, mister..." Blondie said, her voice breaking under the strain.
"Mister yourself!" came back Larry, laughingly.
Blondie followed him to the door, it seemed as though the weight of the world was resting on her shoulders, and a strange, insistent pain was tugging at her heart.
With his hand on the door Larry turned, and said:
"Everyone, sometime in his life, has to turn around and do the right thing. I want to be married and have a home... and children. The big gay life isn't so much... really! It's pretty empty at times... Well, so long..." and he was gone.
Blondie stared blankly at the door for a minute, then threw back her shoulders, put her chin in the air, and entered the drawing room. Lurline was pouring champagne when Blondie walked over to her.
"Want some?" asked Lurline, quietly.
"Sure!"
Silently they raised their glasses to each other and drank.
"Heigh!" "Heigh!" called Blondie, putting down her glass.
"Got a mirror?" asked Lurline.
"My tears have gone black!"
"In here..." and Blondie led her into a bedroom that a princess would envy.

Majestic COLD DOME REFRIGERATION

AT A SAVING OF

$35 to $75

WHAT'S the Majestic COLD DOME? Perfectly simple! The heart of any refrigerator is its motor and compressor. Well... Majestic takes this vital mechanism and seals it for life—in the COLD DOME—inside walls of impenetrable steel. Steel electrically fused to steel!

No dirt or dust can get in... moisture can't seep through... abuse and neglect can work no damage. The quiet, efficient mechanism simply keeps on running, in a bath of oil that never has to be renewed!

Compare that with the ordinary refrigerator's mechanism—constantly exposed to dirt and dampness. Now you can see why Majestic can give you an unconditional 3-year guarantee on the Electro-Sealed COLD DOME!

Yet—Majestic Refrigeration is not more expensive. It actually costs no more than ordinary refrigerators with exposed mechanism; and it costs $35 to $75 less than other makes with ordinary hermetically sealed units.

See the Majestic with the Electro-Sealed COLD DOME—if you want to see 1933's greatest value in quality refrigeration.

ELECTRO-SEALED REFRIGERATION GUARANTEED FOR THREE YEARS

Servicing Electric Refrigerators Is Important—To Owners

This firm has represented Majestic ever since the first shipment, some three years ago, to Southeast Missouri.

Our service men have been sent to the Majestic School.

We were "sold" on Majestics at the beginning.

Majestics are still our choice, and so far as we know now, will continue to be our exclusive line.

Dealers who pushed one kind in '31, another in '32 and have still a different "world beater" in '33 can not be expected to take much interest in servicing the machines they have discarded from their stock.

Who knows what kind they will handle in 1934?

We feel an obligation to take care of Majestics in our community whether we sold them or not—and HAVE DONE SO ON MANY OCCASIONS WITHOUT COST TO THE OWNERS.

There Is No Better Refrigerator On Earth Than a Majestic There Are a Good Many Not Nearly So Good

With our unusual facilities for handling time payments, used goods as part pay—and good service after sales are made—it is a foregone conclusion that this will be the best year in Sikeston and Charleston that Majestic folks have ever recorded. You and You and You are invited to join the fast growing Majestic family.

P. S. We have the privilege from the factory of extending a very special proposition to the next fifteen Majestic purchasers. Come in and let us tell you about it.

Week of High Temperatures an Aid to All Crops

A week of high temperatures, sunshine and no rain has improved the general crop situation in Missouri, Roscoe Nunn, head of the St. Louis Weather Bureau said today in the weekly weather and crop bulletin.

The weather made possible uninterrupted field work and caused rapid germination and growth so that crop conditions and farm work were normal or better in three-fourths of the State. Rain, however, would be beneficial within the next few days, Nunn said.

The planting of considerable corn acreage, delayed by previous heavy rainfall, was accomplished. Earlier corn shows good stands and that planted at the normal time is mostly in excellent condition. Second plantings are reported very good, and in the northwest quarter of the State replantings were less than usual.

Wheat made good to excellent progress. It is mostly headed and is reported filling well. In the southwestern counties there are signs of ripening. Oats made good progress and heading is general. First cuttings of alfalfa were completed with good to excellent yields.

Planting of cotton was finished this week and progress of that planted earlier, was good.

Minor crops, such as potatoes and garden produce are doing well. Tobacco is being transplanted in some localities—in Platte, Jackson, Clay and Chariton Counties. Cherries and apples are making progress. Chinch bugs are appearing in some corn fields and locusts are numerous.

FRISCO USES NEW AIR COOLED CARS

Effective the first of this month the Frisco Railroad placed in use three new lounge cars, the first air-cooled cars to be put in service. The Texas Special crack trains between St. Louis, Dallas, Ft. Worth and San Antonio, Texas, are so equipped, says a recent bulletin.

The cooling device placed in each car is insulated with cork, and the total weight of ice and air conditioning equipment is about 6500 pounds. The ice box under the car holds 2400 pounds of ice and maintains water temperature of 39 to 40 degrees, which is pumped to spray chambers inside of the car. The air is washed and cooled, and then passes on to the fan, and then into the car. It is believed that the type of air cooling equipment in this car is the cheapest, lightest in weight and most economical of power units, and takes less room inside of the car than any air cooled car brought out to date. The ice will last approximately fourteen hours without re-icing.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Duncan, George Finney and Miss Beulah Howe spent Monday evening in Dexter with friends.

President Roosevelt's Daughter Popularizes New Eating Custom

Mrs. Dall entertaining friends at a "salad first" luncheon.

WASHINGTON—By serving her salads as an appetizer at the beginning of the meal instead of following the meat course, Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, energetic daughter of President Roosevelt, with true Rooseveltian vigor has taken a leading part in popularizing this long-established California custom in the East.

During the past year the West Coast custom of serving salads at the beginning of the meal has been spreading rapidly Eastward and already has become the vogue in many sections of the South and Middle West. Most of the larger hotels have adopted the plan.

Fruit and vegetable salads have long been recognized by dietitians and doctors as necessary in a balanced diet. In communities where salads are served first, statistics show they usually are eaten. When served in the old fashioned manner with or following the meat course, they often are left untouched, the result being that the diner, already satisfied, misses important vitamins which he should have to balance his meal.

After serving her salads first, Mrs. Dall solved the problem of getting her children to eat their daily portions of vegetables without protest. At the beginning of the meal, when they are hungry, she found her children not only ate, but loved their vegetables in salad form.

The custom of serving salads first, Mrs. Dall said, appeals most favorably to adults, and especially to men, and because of the great popularity of the custom she has made it a frequent feature of her meals.

A little girl in Porter had been spanked, put into a dark closet, sent to bed hungry, "shamed" and about all the more or less humane forms of punishment applied to try to break her swearing. Finally her mother packed the girl's clothing in a big suit case and put the girl and it out on the porch, telling her she could not live in the house if she would not quit swearing. Not long after that the preacher came up and asked the child if her mother was at home. Promptly the little girl replied: "Damned if I don't live here any more."—Porter News.

Miss Beulah Howe of this city and George Finney of Evansville, Ind., spent Tuesday evening with Miss Lena Jackson at Charleston.

MINOR FIRE AT DILL HOME MONDAY

A small fire at the home of Mrs. A. B. Dill Monday morning frightened members of the family when sparks from under a kettle in the yard were blown to a wood pile, igniting the wood, and finally spreading to a nearby shed. The fire department was called in time, however, to prevent any serious damage.

STANDARD OIL WINS 12 TO 2 FROM SHOE MEN

VICTORS HAVE WON 5 LOST 1 IN SERIES

The Isovics boys of Manager Pete McCoy went wild Tuesday in the first munny baseball game of the week, sending Cy Dowdy's shoe-makers back to their lasts with the small end of a dozen to two score, incidentally keeping their top-of-the-league standing intact with five wins and one loss.

The Shoe Makers still hold precariously to second place, breaking even in wins and losses with three each. With only one game remaining in the second round of the first half, there is a chance for the Midwest Aces to go into a tie for second honors. The boys piloted by Ted Kirby have lost three and won two games, and Thursday are scheduled to meet Potash.

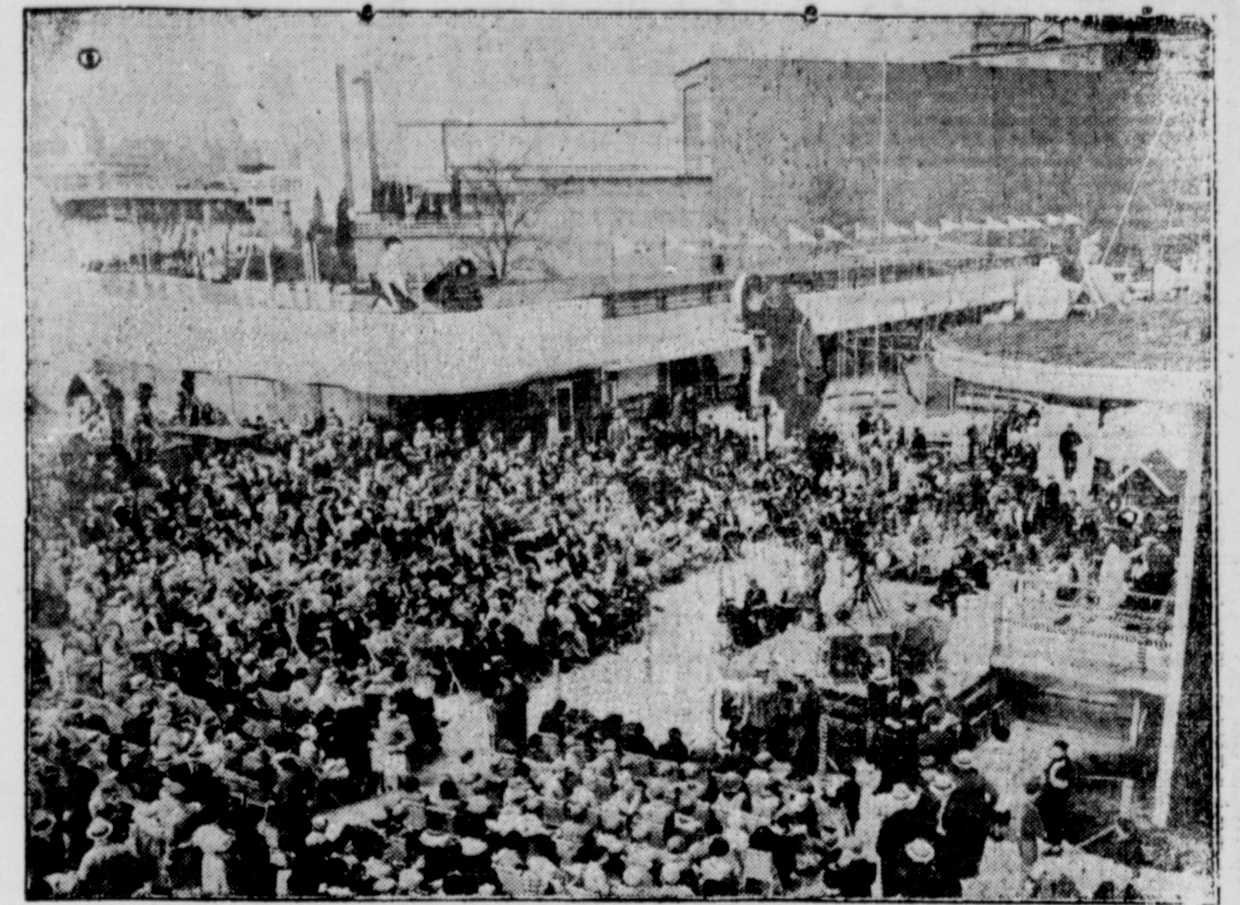

Night Mare First increase their win percentage to three and three, while the Truckers drop one more notch below the surface.

The Truckers, however, reflect confidence of manager Duke Weidemann, who has the Thursday game on ice. A complete shakeup has been in progress for the past week, and the Duke plans on placing a rejuvenated nine on the diamond. He will have the redoubtable Smoky Sutton, in person, behind the plate. Yohog Mow will hold down an outfield position, and Bush will do the twirling.

In event the freight heavers take the honors Thursday, they go into a tie with the Aces for third honors.

The first inning in the Tuesday Standard Oil-International Shoe contest roved to be a nightmare of runs, hits, errors and passes which were promptly converted into five tallies by the McCoy crowd.

The Oilers batted completely around in the first frame with Scene at the dedication of Enchanted Island, the children's fairyland at Chicago's World's Fair. The Island, which consists of five acres, was opened two weeks in advance of the official opening.

Here the parents may check their children with capable attendants while they visit other sections of A Century of Progress and visit the hundreds of interesting exhibits.

Lancaster starting the celebration with a bingle, and a score and ending it with a long drive out to Dowdy in centerfield for the final put-out.

Kindred followed Jack with a single, but was caught in a double play when Sells grounded down to Smith at second. With two down and one on, Letty Weidemann, hurler for the Shoe Makers, passed Miller purposely to get to Dick Swaim, but Barber Dick crossed up the works by lining out a double that cleared the bases and left him on second. Smith bobbled Mast's drive to second, Roberts walked, and Vessels' got on by an error on Johnson. Williams cleaned the bases with another double, and Lancaster finally ended the comedy errors with his drive out to Dowdy.

Kirby Does Fade Out Red Kirby worked behind Weidemann in the first two frames, but retired in favor of Sidwell, who umpired the rest of the game.

Manager Dowdy receives credit for both runs scored by the Internationals. He walked in the fourth and scored when Hicks attempted to stretch a double and was thrown out at second. An error in the sixth frame also went for a tally drive to second, Roberts walked, and Vessels' got on by an error on to Miller who tossed Johnson, out at second, and Smith who might have saved the day with a double grounded out. Law previously had popped out to Roberts at second.

The score sheet gave the Oilers 13 hits, 12 runs and five errors, the Internationals three hits, two runs and three errors.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear son, Ray Montgomery, who passed away one year ago, June 8th, 1932:
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Sadly missed by Mother,
Fathers, Sisters and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of Mrs. Eva Culbertson, who was laid to rest last Thursday, June 1:
God has called from this world a mother, grandmother and friend. She was a true Christian, her life a light to the world, a great help and comfort to the sick, was so kind and patient to children and a great lover of flowers.
From this world a friend has gone,
Has gone far, far away.
But we hope to meet her
In Heaven some sweet day.
We will miss her face
We will miss her hands
When light has touched seem born of love,
Only in dream can we recall
The saintly form that dwells above,
And yet we know her tender heart
Yearned to assuage the tears we weep.
And we know that in the darkest night
The faithful Angels will guard her sleep.
A Friend,
MRS. JESSE BOHANNON

East Prairie Boy Fatally Hurt In Fall From Truck

Cairo, Illinois, June 5.—John Rogers, 17, of East Prairie, Mo., died at St. Mary's Hospital this morning from injuries received when he fell from a truck near his home Sunday morning. The truck on which he was riding was pulling a trailer. The wheels of the trailer ran over Rogers, crushing him.

The truck was driven by Quarley Johnson. Rogers and others had asked Johnson to let them ride out to their homes in the country as he was going their way. Sitting with Johnson on a box in the back of the truck was another man, who also came near falling in front of the trailer as the truck crossed a floodway embankment over which the highway ran.

Goroner C. E. Dille held an inquest here today. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death, and specified that Rogers was riding at his own request.

Rogers was the son of Mrs. Clara King of East Prairie. His body was returned to East Prairie today. Interment will be made at New Madrid.

CHARLESTON WINS OVER SKESTON, 9-1

Charleston, June 4.—The Charleston Cardinals won their fourth straight victory here this afternoon and their fifth out of six starts, when they shut out the Sikeston Independents for eight innings, and allowed them to score once in the ninth while they were pulling up 2 runs in the meantime.

It was Ault's fourth victory out of five starts, but the loss was not charged against him. He struck out six batters, walked one and hit two batters, while allowing only six hits. The Cardinals jumped on Butler, Sikeston pitcher for 9 hits and 7 runs in five innings, before he retired in favor of Sherry who allowed two hits, and two runs in the four innings he worked.

Jim Miller, Charleston catcher, with a triple and two singles out of four trips to the plate, increased his batting average to .619 for the season. Carl Cokenour, short-

liam Fleming, he wrote: "You say you are determined to be married as soon as possible, and advise me to do the same. No thank you!"

Benjamin Franklin, sometimes called "the first civilized American," wrote to Mme. Brillon:

"I had not the happiness, my dear friend, to see you on Wednesday evening, because my horses were at Paris with the young man, and I have neither feet nor wings. If I had wings, I think I should have flown to you, and I think I should sometimes scratch on the window of your bedchamber. It is very mischievous of nature to deny us the advantages that she wastes so profusely on all the little good-for-nothing birds and flies."

One of the most torrid of the love letters on exhibition is that of Constance Lloyd to Oscar Wilde:

"My darling love—you take all my strength away. I have no power to do anything but just love you when you are with me. Every moment you are with me I worship you more, my whole life is yours."

Do you believe that I love you most passionately with all the strength of my heart and mind... and when I have you for my husband I will hold you fast with chains of love and devotion so that you shall never leave me, or love anyone as long as I can love and comfort."

Most fascinating of all is a letter of Edgar Allan Poe to a friend, a letter reciting a love deep, moving and tragic. The letter tells of the recurring illnesses of "a wife whom I loved as no man ever loved before."

With each recurring attack of her illness he "felt all the agonies of her death and at each accession of the disorder I loved her more dearly and clung to her life with more desperate pertinacity."

I became insane, with long intervals of horrible sanity. During these fits of absolute unconsciousness I drank, God only knows how often or how much. As a matter of fact, my enemies referred to

BLUFF GOLFERS DEFEAT DEXTER

The Poplar Bluff golf team continued its march toward district honors in the round robin tournament by defeating Dexter Sunday and maintaining a perfect average of four victories and no defeats.

John Phillips and E. C. Graham were low scorers for Poplar Bluff, each with a 79. Dr. Frank LaRue and Fred Smith were low for Dexter with 77 each.

The next scheduled match with Sikeston the course there is for June 25. Sikeston has won three and lost one tourney.

The score Sunday was Poplar Bluff 30, Dexter 10.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL FROM MORLEY

(By Mrs. C. A. Stallings)

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Modglin of Memphis, Tenn., returned to their home Saturday, after a three-day visit with the latter's brother, U. G. Ragains and family.

Twynman Grant of Cape Girardeau, a former teacher here, visited here Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leslie left Friday for Current River near Doniphan for a week-end camping trip.

Helen Vera Dudley of Sikeston is visiting Lulu Ruth Ragains.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitell and daughter, Miss Lillian, of Union City, Tenn., and Miss Nadine Moore Charleston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lottie Leslie, Thursday.

Mr. Waldman of Piedmont visited Harry Tomlinson, Saturday.

Ralph Vaughn and Oscar Dodson went to Eleven Point Wednesday for a few days fishing, returning Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Hight of Morehouse and her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Ogden of Denver, Colo., visited Mrs. W. P. Clayton, the last of the week leaving Saturday for Kansas City for an extended visit.

Carl Leslie and Miss Ruth Lowery of St. Louis were married Saturday, June 3, at the home of Rev. J. W. Stone, pastor of the Compton Heights church, St. Louis. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leslie of this place and was reared here, moving to St. Louis in 1928 soon after graduating from high school. He is employed by the Wm. R. Warner Wholesale Drug Co., and has a home prepared for housekeeping. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie are expected in Morley Thursday for a visit with relatives.

Elmer Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Phillips, was born March 5, 1892, at Marston and departed his life very suddenly of heart trouble at his home in Morley, June 3, 1933, age 41 years, 2 months and 28 days. At the age of 15 he professed faith in Christ and was united with the Evergreen Baptist church at Marston. He continued strong in his faith until his death. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Cole June 2, 1915. To this union 8 children were born, one of which preceded his father in death. He leaves his wife, Elizabeth; and children, Christine, Howell, Ruth, Allene, Colleen, Richard and Patsy May; one sister, Mrs. Cora Pikey, of Marston; three brothers, Richard of Atwell, Ark.; Oliver of Gulfport, Miss.; and Lee

NEW PATROL CHIEF IS WAR VETERAN

By J. C. Johnsen

State Editor, Journal Post
Kansas City—Missouri's State Highway Patrol will "carry on" as it has in the past, under the guidance of a new leader whose youth and army experience fits him well to succeed the able Col. Lewis Ellis as superintendent.

The new chief is Marvin Casteel, 39 years old, a graduate of the University of Missouri, former accounting engineer for the St. Joseph and Grand Island railroad, and for twelve years chief engineer for the St. Joseph school district. Casteel, who went to France with the American Expeditionary forces as a second lieutenant, returned to his home State a captain. He won promotion while in France. He is now a major in the reserve corps.

To Be No Shakeup

In assuming charge Superintendent Casteel asserted there will be no change or shakeup in the department.

"We will carry on," he declared in passing favorable comment on the administration of the highway patrol under Colonel Lewis. "The department is well organized. The members of the patrol got their training at the St. Louis police school, have gained in practical experience under Colonel Ellis, and I see no need to disrupt the organization as it now stands and I certainly do not intend to."

Superintendent Casteel's appointment was announced May 12 by Governor Guy B. Park. The salary of the superintendent was reduced by the last session of the Legislature from $5800 a year to $4300. Under the law the salary reduction will be effective only for the next two years, but the next session will have power to continue the reduction or lower it still more as it finds necessary. The reduction was made by appropriation and not by statute.

The office of superintendent of the patrol is answerable to the governor and the head of the department serves at the governor's pleasure.

A Native of St. Joseph

Superintendent Casteel is a native of St. Joseph, Mo. After his graduation from the State university he joined the St. Joseph and Grand Island railroad and in 1917 he entered the service as a second lieutenant.

He was an engineering officer for the second corps air school in France. He served 17 months overseas. After the armistice he became a superintendent of road construction, until his appointment in 1920 as chief engineer for the St. Joseph school board.

Superintendent Casteel has always taken an active part in veterans' affairs. He is a former commander of the Jack Schneider post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; MacDonald post, American Legion; and MacDonald-Dugger-Duncan post, American Legion. He was State Commander of the American Legion in 1928. He is a past exalted ruler of the Elks, and is a Mason.

MO. EXHIBIT PUT ON DISPLAY AT WORLD'S FAIR

Chicago, June 5.—Missouri's and Wisconsin's exhibits were placed on display yesterday at the World's Fair. Agricultural products and Ozark scenes feature the Missouri exhibit. During the first week, 565,782 persons saw the fair, as compared with the 246,849 visitors during the first week of the Columbian Exposition forty years ago.

Washington Comment

If Congress casts a favorable eye on the plans of the President, government expenses will be cut about a billion dollars. Having cut them, there remains the equally serious problem of keeping them down. Assuming that they are not permitted to rise again, there are a good many dead horses to pay for, as well as several new and live ones to be taken care of. Like it or not, there is but one mine that can be depended upon to yield unfailing pay-dirt, and that mine is taxation. The excise taxes, scheduled for the scaffold on the first of July, are likely to be given a reprieve of a year. Others will be created or increased. Heavier tax paying seems distinctly probable. The immediate result will be the production of ready cash in the Treasury. If the list of tax-free securities is suspended, the market for government bonds will be improved, but what will happen to the securities that heretofore have been regarded as gilt-edged? The net result, in the more or less distant future, may prove to be highly satisfactory, but no one should delude himself into thinking that there are no high mountain ranges yet to be crossed. It will be necessary to carry on for some time to come.

The Navy Department has issued orders that sailors who swear are to be punished. It will be recalled that Farragut made harsh remarks about the torpedoes. Washington broke loose at Monmouth. Horace Greeley could rip it off on occasion. A newspaper says that a former Vice-President uses only the "conventional" hell and damnation in the forecastle is evident, yet there remains the ancient prerogative of saying important things in a low breath.

The door nail, although popularly regarded as dead, has been kept alive for several centuries by a proverb of common speech. Even as a by-word, the door-nail is doomed to go. The current phrase is "deader than a war debt".

The representative of the United States at Geneva assures the conference of the support of his country in efforts to put down future wars, a statement which has a good and wholesome sound. The only thing that causes apprehension is the fact that the delegates of the other nations greeted the announcement with cheers. Woe unto you when all men shall speak well of you.

Relaxing revision of anti-trust laws is suggested now and then, as a means for bolstering up business. There was a time when the bad men of history were Benedict Arnold and Mr. Rockefeller. The future may conclude that John D. should have a statue in the Hall of Fame.

An Italian liner breaks a record, on a voyage of five days and twenty-two hours from Spain to New York. No doubt the affairs of the passengers were so urgent that a quick run was necessary. Columbus took about ten weeks for the trip, but he had no business more pressing than the discovery of a continent.

Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany have concluded a peace treaty. It is specified that it shall stand for ten years. Even in these serious times one does not have the heart to forbid a man his little joke.

England took one of her crack trains from the track and sent it to Chicago for exhibition at the World's Fair. The train was shown here and there, on its way to the windy city on the lake, and the observant saw some mysterious rings in the varnish on the tables. They were caused by cold water. It may be that the Britons thought that they would give the Yankees a gentle hint that they had no reason to be too much puffed up over their 3.2 beer.

Mexico and Peru, who have been on the outs for about a year, have patched up their difficulties, which is a serious infraction of an old Spanish custom. No thriving Latin-American country should be without a war, a near-war, a revolution, or a presidential assassination.

It appears that before the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will accord loans to large concerns, it must be made clear that the salaries paid to the executives are reasonable. Otherwise a cut will be in order. The wisdom and justice of the demand is not to be questioned. How a corporation disposes of its profits in flush times is largely its own business, but it would be manifestly improper to take money raised by taxation, and distribute it as huge salaries to the top-notchers.

Switzerland is thinking of cutting the gold standard. If the change is due to the necessity for economy in public affairs, no one can claim that the Swiss navy is partly to blame.

The papers report that a steamer grounded in Lake Superior during the closing days of last month, rolled over, and sank, but not before her hundred or more passengers had been landed in safety. Things have not always turned out so well on the Lakes. For instance, the immigrant steamer Phoenix took 240 to the bottom in 1847, the Lady Elgin carried down 300 in 1860, and the car ferry Milwaukee sank with 52 in 1929. To fill the gaps between these dates would amount simply to wearisome repetition. The doings of those who follow the ocean are thoroughly written up and widely read. Both chroniclers and readers sometimes forget that right in the heart of the continent lie vast seas having stories of adventure which rival in interest those of the great deep.

Mr. Morgan is reported as being back on the job, passing the plate at the local Long Island church. That is not mentioned as a reflection on the church. It is to be hoped that the congregation did not follow what is said to be Mr. Morgan's line of reasoning with respect to the income tax.

About a month ago, Ellsworth, Me., had a two million dollar fire. On Sunday, the town was threatened with a fire that seemed likely to wipe out what was left. Both fires were set. Lightning does not strike twice in the same place. Incendiaries are not so considerate. We can get along fairly well with the elements. It is our brother man that makes most of the trouble.

Chicago opens its big fair by using the energy from a star to set the thousands of lamps going. There was a time when anyone suggesting the possibility of such a proceeding would have been handled roughly as a wizard, in league with Satan. He would have been lucky to get off with a few years in a dungeon, under ball and chain. The name Chicago is usually coupled in the popular mind with doings of gangsters, racketeers and thugs. Perhaps, even in Chicago, there is an abundance of evidence that the world is moving forward if one takes the pains to search it out, or even give it a passing glance.

It is stated that Mr. Woodin may be transferred from his treasury post to the position of Ambassador to Germany. It cannot be insisted that the country will suffer by the change. Not that Mr.

Woodin is not well-fitted for his present place; rather, ambassadors just now had better know a good deal about finance. There is much satisfaction to be derived from the prospect of having a man so well trained as Mr. Woodin as our representative abroad.

Three men are killed in an auto race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. That was bad for the men, and worse for their surviving relatives and friends, but nothing to the discredit of auto-racing. The number of persons who worked themselves to death on that day is not recorded. Perhaps amusement and recreation are entitled to a few martyrs, as well as toil.

A little starch in the kitchen curtains will keep them clean longer.

A piece of lemon rind in the pot with cauliflower will eliminate the cooking odor and bleach the cauliflower so that it will come forth white rather than green.

NEW TYPE OF CARPET
Rug making and rug weaving have been popular among women's home crafts for centuries and now the ancient art finds a new expression in a special carpeting material just off the loom of a Sanford, Maine, mill.

With this new carpet, rugs of novel designs and a wide range of color combinations, may be made in a short time, without the need of hand sewing or binding of edges and with a minimum of waste. Tape, cement and a safety razor blade are about the only tools required.

This interesting new craft is made possible because of the special composition backing on the carpet. This substance securely locks the wool fibers of the carpet in place and also permits joining sections together so that the seams are practically invisible and there is no danger of their tearing apart. Tests show that the joints of this new "seamloc" carpet so formed withstand pulling of seventy-five pounds to the square inch, considerably more than is required in standard carpet material.

Inlays, monograms, special figures for the child's rooms or for other interiors are easily worked out either in the rugs or in the carpet. Eighteen colors selected from the latest trends in style are available and an unlimited field of design is open to the woman who has a special floor covering or decorating problem. Rugs of any size may be made, odd parts of the room fitted with a minimum of expense and labor and there are five different grades of the carpet for different installations.

The backing is strongly reinforced with a stout webbing, securely anchored to the back, the carpet is washable, it does not stretch nor bulge and the backing is waterproof.

DOUBLEHEADER
GAME WITH CAPE
SET FOR SUNDAY

CUBS AND REGULARS TO MEET CAPAHAS

The Cape Girardeau Capahas and the Sikeston Independents will meet in the first game of a double bill on the local diamond Sunday afternoon, announced Manager Ted Kirby today. The Sikeston Juniors, a cub team which has won a majority of its contests will meet a group of Girardeau youngsters in the nightcap. "This situation may be reversed," stated Kirby today, "but we assure fans that we will have two first class baseball games on tap Sunday afternoon for the price of one."

Sunday will be ladies' day at the park. Children are to be admitted for ten cents, adults for 35 cents, ladies free. The first game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Butler and Sherry will probably see service on the mound for the Sikeston regulars with Sutton working behind the plate. The youngsters will call upon Schaffer and Crain for their twirling with Byrd on the receiving end.

Manager Bill Sullivan of Cape Girardeau promises to bring a string of first rate players, qualified to duplicate the Charleston drumming suffered by the locals last Sunday.

SIKESTONIANS WILL ATTEND UTILITIES CONVENTION IN BLUFF

Practically the entire personnel of the Sikeston Board of Public Works, Dan G. Pepper, plant superintendent, Mayor N. E. Fuchs and members of the City Council are expected to attend some of the meetings of the annual convention of the Missouri Association of Municipal Utilities which convenes in Poplar Bluff Monday. The meeting is a two-day affair.

Mayor N. E. Fuchs is slated for a talk in which he will outline the progress of the local municipal plant, and give the Sikeston formula for successful operation.

Many State and national figures in the field of engineering, plant supervision, operation and distribution will be present to offer up-to-the-minute suggestions to those attending the convention. About 400 persons are expected to register.

LIIONS HOLD ANNUAL FISH FRY WEDNESDAY

Members of the Sikeston Lions Club and a dozen invited guests assembled north of Morley near Highway 61 for their annual fish fry and chicken barbecue, taking the place of the regular weekly luncheon meeting. About 35 pounds of excellent cat fish, two or three chickens and several cases of liquid refreshments disappeared during the course of the evening.

TRUCKERS VIOLATING P. S. C. REGULATIONS DRAW STIFF FINES

W. A. Fisher operating a truck out of Indianapolis, Ind., was picked up Tuesday by Highway Troopers on a charge of operating without a Public Service Commission permit. Judge D. A. Hedge at Hayti assessed a fine of $25 and costs. Fisher's truck was loaded with six tons of canned corn, and was enroute to Memphis.

Charles Meyer of St. Louis was arrested Wednesday morning for having his truck incorrectly lettered. It was the first arrest in this district under this particular technical regulation of the Public Service Commission, and drew a fine of $12 and costs.

AUXILIARY NOTES

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Burris on Wednesday evening. The First Vice-President, Mrs. Wm. Foley, who assumes the chairmanship, presided. The letter from Mrs. Bryan Bradley resigning the office of President was read and accepted. A letter of appreciation to Mrs. Bradley will be written by the Secretary of the Auxiliary expressing the regrets of the Auxiliary at losing so valued an officer.

The next meeting will be held June 21.

MIDWEST ICE CREAM TRACTOR DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT WEDNESDAY

The cab and tractor unit of the Midwest Products Company ice cream refrigerator truck was demolished in an unusual accident about 8 o'clock Wednesday night near the "Big Ditch" bridge east of the city.

Bryant Briggs, driver of the unit, was returning from Charleston and attempted to pass a motorist who, he stated, cut in sharply as he was about parallel. Bryant chose the motorist instead of the bridge railing and turned the heavy truck upsidown in the center of the highway. The lighter automobile suffered the loss of one fender and a bumper. No one was injured.

The Midwest Company Thursday morning purchased a new tractor unit.

Bright Woman
Lost 20 Pounds

FEELS MUCH BETTER

"June 28th, 1932, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Have lost 20 pounds from June 28th to January 10. Feel better than have felt for four years. Was under doctors care for several months. He said I had gall stones and should have operation. Kruschen did all and more than I expected". Mrs. Lute Bright, Walker, Minn., (January 10, 1933).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drug store in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar. -3

"And I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent
in the earth"

For years business has been burying its talents, putting its money under cover. Today men are wondering why there is no crop of profits.

At every discussion of something constructive two questions have raised their heads: "What will it cost?" "Is it absolutely necessary?"

Withering questions, these. In times of reduced income they wear an air of finality that shrivels initiative. It is no joke that business conditions have been called "The Repression". Business men have talked about orders—but always it was the other fellow who should do the ordering.

In every store, factory and office lies a wealth of ideas covered with dust no man dares scrape away for fear of being called extravagant.

Yet the talent must be dug up, the silver brightened, its wealth put to work for its master, The Public. We cannot—will not—forever continue a hopeful watching of idle funds, idle ideas, idle hands. American Business must again turn to the task of making each measure of silver earn another.

Business is first of all a movement of minds. Movement that is; not a staking of ideas to one spot. And printing is the greatest of all devices to urge a mass of minds to constructive action. Trade and industry—half of the wealth-producing activity of the country—depend on the constant interchange of ideas on paper—on letterheads record cards, printed forms, advertising pages.

It is high time for American Business to return to its normal habits—to balance wise buying against aggressive selling, to earn new dollars instead of merely burying old ones, to make the printed word again take up its load of business management.

The printing industry is basic in the prosperity of America, a barometer of business thinking. Idle presses are an index of idle ideas in industry. Let's put ideas to work, dollars to work. The time has come for an accounting of stewardship.

Let it no longer be said that we are afraid, and hide our talent in the earth.
